Deaths In Plane Crashes Jump To 180

26 OTHER PERSONS SUFFER INJURIES

Worst Air Tragedy In U. S. History Takes 53 Lives In Maryland

HUSHED RELATIVES GO TO ATTEMPT IDENTIFICATIONS

(By Associated Press)
A world-wide series of disastrous airplane crashes the past few days has taken 80 lives—more than a third of the 433 killed in major commercial and military crashes so far this year. At least 26 other persons were injured, some critically, and three fliers were missing.

Investigators and witnesses reported the apparent causes of the crashes were varied. The worst tragedy and biggest plane disaster in the history of the United States was the crash of an Eastern Airlines DC-4 Friday near Fort Deposit, Md., with the loss of 53 lives. The cause still was in doubt but some witnesses told investigators they saw the tail section of the big plane come off before it plunged in flames.

Less than 24 hours earlier, the previous worst crash in the nation's aviation history occurred when a United Air Lines plane was wrecked in an attempted take-off in New York, causing 41 deaths. Investigators said a sudden shift in wind took place as the plane was attaining air speed.

A flight instructor and his student were killed Saturday when their light plane crashed after it and a Navy DC-4 collided near Red Bank, N. J. The Navy plane returned to its base and none of its passengers were injured.

Near Tokyo, an army transport crashed in the mountains Thursday killing 40. The American craft struck a 500-foot ridge as it was approaching Nakagawa for a landing.

Bad visibility was suggested as a possible cause for the crashup of an Icelandic Airways plane which struck a mountain in northern Iceland Thursday, killing 25.

Twelve persons were killed in the collision of two planes Thursday at Tillburg, the Netherlands. Three plane crashes in Argentina the past three days killed four and injured one critically.

Other crashes included: three were missing and nine escaped when an Army B-29 crashed on a takeoff at Fairbanks, Alaska Thursday. Twelve were injured at Bogota, Colombia when a Colombian army air force transport crash-landed Friday after striking a buzzard. A Royal air force Liberator bomber blew up on an airport runway Friday at Litchfield, England, injuring four civilians. Three French government fliers were killed Thursday when their Junkers transport plane crashed in a mountain range 65 miles south of Algiers.

Domestic plane travel at La Guardia Field, New York, dropped below peak capacity Saturday. Although some airline representatives said unofficial-

SHREVEPORT TIMES 75 YEARS OLD TODAY

SHREVEPORT, La., May 31.—(AP)—Tomorrow is the 75th anniversary of the Shreveport Times as a daily newspaper, with its exact age as a publication shrouded in destruction of its records in the Civil War and post-war period when it was published as a weekly, semi-weekly or tri-weekly.

The paper's only observance will be a brief front page editorial outlining the Times' history and including the statement that newspaper shortage makes it impossible to issue a special edition or publish special articles on the occasion of reaching the three-quarters of a century milestone.

During 39 of the 75 years the Times has been under single ownership—the late Colonel Robert Ewing of New Orleans originally, and then his children: John D. Ewing, present editor and publisher; Mrs. Esther Ewing Brown, Robert Ewing, Jr., and James L. Ewing of New Orleans; Wilson Ewing of Monroe and the late T. M. Ewing. John D. Ewing has been associated with the paper for 32 years.

MAN DROPS DEAD ON STREET HERE

Joe C. Smith, 70, of Chatham, dropped dead as he went to enter his parked car near the intersection of Calypso and St. John streets, Friday afternoon.

Dr. J. T. French, parish coroner, was summoned and after making an examination gave the cause of death due to heart failure.

The body was removed from the Mulhearn Funeral Home to the McClure Funeral Home in Rutson, where the funeral was held Saturday. It was explained that the man had been ailing for some time and had come to Monroe to receive treatment from a local physician. He had left the doctor's office only a few minutes when he was seized by the fatal attack.

Feud Between Two Grizzled Men At Pumping Station Is Fatal

A long-smouldering feud between two grizzled watchmen at a lonely water pumping station erupted Saturday night in a fusillade of bullets which killed one of them instantly.

Slain was Ulrich Burkhardt, whose age was given as between 55 and 60, of 809 Alabama street, while his assailant, W. E. Harris, 60, of 712 Washington street, was taken into custody by state police pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest scheduled for 2 p. m. Monday.

The shooting occurred at about 8 o'clock Saturday night, according to Harris who talked freely to a news reporter about the incident, under the harsh glare of the unshaded lights in the desolate outpost on Bayou Desiard.

Harris stated that there had been ill feeling between Burkhardt for some time, although there had never been any violence previously.

In his version of the affair, Harris said that Burkhardt had come into the pumping station at about 8 o'clock, a half an hour before he was supposed to relieve Harris on the night shift.

Burkhardt walked into the station house, apparently to read the registers, and then, picking up a wrench, started after Harris who was standing on the catwalk connecting the build-

SANITARIUM'S 1ST HEAD PASSES AWAY

Mother de Bethanie, Builder Of St. Francis, Dies In Cork, Ireland

The death at Cork, Ireland, Friday of the Rev. Mother Marie de Bethanie, co-founder and first head of St. Francis Sanitarium in Monroe and Our Lady of the Lake hospital at Baton Rouge, was announced by Mother Superior Mary Brendan yesterday morning following the receipt of a cablegram.

A requiem high mass memorializing Mother de Bethanie has been set for 7 o'clock Monday morning at St. Matthew's church, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John C. Marsh, the pastor, said Saturday. The service will be open to the public, and older members of the congregation, and others who knew her during her years in Monroe, have been especially invited to attend.

Mother de Bethanie was the leader of a small group of Franciscan Sisters of Calais who came from France in 1911 with the intention of establishing a hospital here. With the help of the late Father Louis Eneaut, then pastor of St. Matthew's, and the public aid, the project was financed and the institution was built under her personal direction. It was completed and opened two years later as a 100-bed hospital. The original structure on the nearly one block of land given to the Sisters by Father Eneaut, was that part of the present hospital that faces Jackson street. The remainder was added in 1929, seven years after Mother de Bethanie had gone to Baton Rouge to superintend construction of Our Lady of the Lake hospital.

In 1930, after eight years as superior at Baton Rouge, Mother de Bethanie returned to Cork, Ireland, her birthplace, and became head of an "institution for the care of aged professional gentlemen, which position she had since held. She was about 70 years of age at the time of her death.

OUACHITA PARISH SCHOOL GRADUATES ITS 1947 CLASS

"Rethinking Our Citizenship," was the highly instructive theme of the commencement day address given by the Ouachita Parish High School class of 1947 by Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, at Neville High School Friday night. The members of the class presented a pleasing sight as they were grouped on the expansive stage of the building. The program was initiated by the national anthem by band, choir, and audience, after which invocation was by Rev. W. H. Giles. A "Medley" was by Rev. W. H. Giles. A "Medley" was by Rev. W. H. Giles. A "Medley" was by Rev. W. H. Giles.

The valedictory address was "In the Minds of Men," by Charles Dana Griffin. Then the formal address of the occasion was delivered. Rev. Holloway, in his address, spoke in part: "I greet you in the name of

NEGOTIATIONS BY MINERS COLLAPSE

Coal Strike Looms After 35-Cent Pay Hike Demand Is Not Met

DISPUTE MAY BRING ABOUT FIRST TEST OF NEW LAWS

By Harold W. Ward
WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The threat of a new nation-wide soft coal strike became heavier today as contract talks between John L. Lewis and 75 per cent of the operators collapsed over a 35-cent an hour pay raise demand.

The break-up of negotiations heightened the prospect that a mine walkout July 1 might provide the first test of new legislation to deal with national emergency strikes and curb union activities—if President Truman signs it. And the president is generally expected to take all factors into account in deciding for or against a veto.

The northern and western operators announced, as the talks were suspended indefinitely, that they had offered a 15-cent hourly increase which they said follows the wage pattern in steel, autos, and other basic industries, but that Lewis spurned it.

Lewis is holding separate negotiations, which resume next Tuesday, with the Southern Coal Producers Association. But the southerners previously have been unwilling to grant as much as the others, and some major operators predicted these negotiations, too, will collapse next week.

"Anything can happen now," said Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the northwest operators who explained their position at a news conference.

He mentioned the possibility that Lewis might make separate agreements with smaller production groups. There also appeared a possibility that some agreement might be reached to continue temporarily the terms of Lewis' contract with the government, which expires June 30 when the government must restore the mines to private hands.

But no moves in these directions were afoot tonight, and Lewis and the northwest operators had no plans for continuing negotiations.

Lewis declined any comment on the collapse of negotiations with the northwest operators and permitted them to take the initiative in making their views public for the first time since the contract talks began May 18. Both sides had maintained strict silence about their talks until today.

Lewis wanted to cut the work day from nine hours to eight hours, and boost the miner's pay from the $11.85 he now receives for nine hours underground to $13.05 for eight hours below surface. His productive working time would be six and a half hours under Lewis' proposal, the operators said, because the United Mine Workers' president wants a 30-minute paid lunch plus about an hour's allowance for underground travel time.

Under the present nine-hour day at $11.85, the miner is paid time and one-half for one hour of work and for another hour spent in underground travel and eating. The operators' counter wage offer would give the miner daily take-home pay for the eight-hour day. They would have made a sixth work day per week optional as long as the demand for coal continues "excessive."

Lewis also asked for a ten-cent royalty on each ton of coal produced—double the amount now collected under the government's contract with

Expect U. S. To Condemn And Attempt To Modify Russia's 'Bare-Faced Grab' In Hungary

FOREIGN RELIEF MEASURE SIGNED

President Digs Further Into Heavy Accumulation Of Work

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—President Truman signed the $250,000,000 foreign relief bill and dug further into the work that piled up while he visited his ailing mother in Missouri.

His schedule is now so heavy, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said, that the once-projected summer vacation in Alaska has been dropped.

Mr. Truman does have plans for two brief journeys in June. Next week-end he will forego travel with old comrades of the 35th division in Kansas City and following that will go to Ottawa to address the Canadian parliament.

He will leave Washington by plane Friday morning, and is expected to "drop in" on his mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, now recovering at Grandview, Mo.

The three-day goodwill visit to Canada will be made by train. Mr. Truman plans to leave here Monday evening, June 9, and depart from Ottawa on the evening of June 12.

Secretary of the Interior Krug had invited the president to Alaska and the trip was under consideration, Ross said, but Mr. Truman now has "definitely decided" against it.

One compelling reason, Ross explained, is that the president must stay in Washington for a week or ten days after congress adjourns, to approve or veto legislation. A trip therefore probably would be impossible until mid-August when, Ross said, the foggy season makes Alaskan travel "highly unfavorable."

The relief act signed today au-

BRAKEMAN'S SIGNAL MISINTERPRETED; CAR HIT BY TRAIN; 1 HURT

Misunderstanding of an I. C. brakeman signals by an auto driver was the cause Friday night of a crossing crash in which a woman passenger of the machine was injured.

C. I. Smith, 42, of 1408 McGuire, the driver, told police he was going south on Eleventh street at 8:50 p. m. and saw a switch train halted near the crossing and the brakeman standing in the street. When the brakeman waved an arm, Smith said he thought it was a signal for him to continue, and was proceeding over the crossing when the train suddenly backed up and struck his car, pushing it 20 feet down the track before the engine was halted.

The left rear side of the auto was mashed in, and Mrs. W. C. Scott, also of 1408 McGuire, who was riding in the car, suffered a fracture of a small bone of her right ankle.

Smith said the brakeman told him after the accident that the arm wave had been a signal to the engineer to back up.

Nation Completely In Soviet Zone Of Domination In Eastern Europe

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Officials predicted today the United States will take the strongest possible political measures to condemn and, if possible, modify what some privately call Russia's "bare-faced grab" of the government of Hungary.

Some economic measures also may be employed. It appeared unlikely that the United States would be able to accomplish much, however, since Hungary is occupied by Soviet troops and completely in the Soviet zone of domination in eastern Europe.

One of the first American actions is expected to be consultation with the British government early next week. Britain shares with the United States and Russia responsibility for carrying

NEVILLE HIGH IS CLOSING YEAR

Baccalaureate Exercises Will Be Held Here Tonight

The class of 1947 of Neville High school will be the last to close the year with baccalaureate and commencement exercises which will be held this week. The other high schools here closed last week.

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the class will attend the baccalaureate exercises held in the First Methodist church, Monroe, marching in to the auditorium in a body and occupying the center of the auditorium.

The pastor, Rev. A. M. Serex, will give the baccalaureate address on the theme: "Rendezvous With Destiny." The commencement will be held in the Neville High school, Thursday, June 5. At that time John E. Cox, state superintendent of education, will deliver the address to the graduating class.

The annual senior-alumni banquet will be held in Hotel Virginia on the night of Tuesday, June 3. Reservations should be made at once at the office of Principal Paul Neal or Supt. E. L. Neville.

BARKSDALE FIELD PLANE IS MISSING

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Army fliers began a search today for a twin-engine training bomber with four persons aboard, reported missing on a routine training flight from Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La., to Brooks Field here.

The plane was last heard from at 2:30 a. m. today when the pilot contacted Kelly Field here and reported he had only enough gas left to keep him in the air 40 minutes.

Brooks Field officials said those aboard included two crew members and two passengers.

SAYS VETO MIGHT KILL TAX SLASH

Taft Thinks Congress Won't Attempt To Pass Another Measure

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today that if President Truman vetoes the tax reduction bill Congress is expected to pass in final form next week, that action probably will kill any income tax cut for this year.

But the Senator told a reporter that in his judgment a veto "won't make sense."

"I don't see the sense in a veto, unless the president does it out of pure stubbornness," Taft declared. "We are going to have enough surplus to take care of tax reduction and make a payment of at least $2,000,000,000 on the debt. From a political standpoint, even if there were a deficit, the president could blame it on the Republicans."

While Taft said he does not want to foreclose in advance the possibility of some further action on taxes in the event of a veto, he expressed doubt that the Republican-controlled Congress will consider taxes further this year if it fails to override.

"It would be silly to come back and try to pass a bill that would give, say, a $1,000,000,000 reduction in taxes," he said. "The people who have been wanting a 20 percent cut are not going to be satisfied with five percent. They would rather wait until next year. If he vetoes it, I think we'll just let it go until then."

Predicting that Congress will be unable to override a veto, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said that a delay until next year would give the legislators time to work out a "more equitable" measure.

He declared that the biggest ben-

PEACE OFFICERS SEEK JAILS PROBE; GRAY ELECTED HEAD

The Louisiana Peace Officers Association at the final session of its 16th annual convention at Hotel Virgil Saturday morning called for a legislative investigation of jails and prisons throughout the state, and elected George Gray, chief of police of Alexandria, president for the next year.

Named with Gray, former first vice-president of the organization, were Major Joseph Green, of the Louisiana State police, first vice-president; Sheriff Prentice Oakley of Arcadia, second vice-president; Chief Pete O'Neill, Thibodaux, third vice-president; Deputy Sheriff Lester Broussard of Homer, sergeant at arms; and Lt. Robert Derbes, of the New Orleans police department, secretary-treasurer for the seventh consecutive year.

The request for a study of Louisiana prisons was made in the form of a resolution after Sheriff J. H. Flournoy of Caddo parish had described what he termed "the deplorable conditions" existing in various jails throughout the state, including those in cities and parishes.

Specifically, the resolution recommended that the state legislature at its next session appoint a state inspector for city and parish jails, and that the association introduce a bill to that effect.

Also at the suggestion of Sheriff Flournoy, the association went on record advocating that the legislature overhaul the present parole system, and create a new board composed of the attorney general, the warden of the penitentiary, the sheriff of the parish and the police chief of the municipality from which the prisoner has been committed, and that each

Find Five Bodies, Hunt For Others

Waterworks Of Leedey Destroyed And Telephone Office Hit; Call Made Over Emergency Line At Edge Of Town

LEEDHEY, Okla., May 31.—(AP)—Jack Sapp, telephone operator in this northwestern Oklahoma city of 600 reported over an emergency line at the edge of town tonight that "Leedey was three-quarters destroyed" by a roaring tornado which hit at 9:05 p. m. (E.S.T.).

"We already have found five bodies," Sapp declared. "We don't know how many more were killed or hurt. We need ambulances and doctors and medical supplies as fast as we can get them."

"The waterworks of the town was destroyed and the telephone office hit. At least half the business district is gone."

Sapp related: "The town itself has been three-quarters destroyed. I was at work in the telephone office when the storm formed. I could see it coming about 45 minutes before it hit."

"I operated the fire siren from the telephone office and I sounded that and also turned on a loudspeaker system and warned people."

"By the time the storm hit I think just about everyone was off the streets and headed for storm cellars."

"That probably kept a lot of people from getting killed or hurt."

"We still don't know just how bad it is but I have managed to set up an emergency circuit at the edge of town and we're trying to get reports out as fast as we can."

"We know the town is hard hit and we need help fast."

The twister roared into Oklahoma from Higgins, Tex., and for a time its route followed that of the deadly April 9 tornado which killed nearly 200 persons in Oklahoma and Texas.

After striking near Arnett, Okla., and Gage, Okla., according to reports from nearby cities, it veered suddenly south to hit Leedey with terrific force.

At Higgins, where the new tornado formed today, the April 9 twister killed 34, injured 340 and virtually leveled the town of 150 population.

The April 9 tornado cut a path about 150 miles long in a northeasterly direction from White Deer, Tex., to White House, Okla.

Today's twister was first reported sighted by a Santa Fe railroad employee at Coburn, Tex., a small railroad settlement near Higgins.

SHATTUCK, Okla., May 31.—(AP)—A tornado struck at Higgins, Tex., in an area swept by a devastating twister April 9, moved northward to miss this Oklahoma town and its near Arnett.

The telephone office at Shattuck said:

"All of the circuits leading to Arnett are down now and we can't get through."

"However, we had reports before the line went out that a tornado had struck near there and we were trying to complete calls when the circuit failed."

Arnett, in northwestern Oklahoma, had a population of 525 in 1940.

Earlier the Santa Fe railroad agent at Higgins, Tex., reported that a tornado struck the southern part of Higgins at 6:15 p. m.

CRASH OF BUS AND TRUCK KILLS FOUR

MAGNOLIA, Miss., May 1.—(AP)—A pre-dawn collision between a Greyhound bus carrying 17 passengers and a heavy duty truck brought death to four persons today, including a one-year-old baby, and injured several others.

State Highway Patrolman C. T. Simmons said one side of the bus was ripped by the force of the collision which occurred shortly after 4 a. m.

The dead were identified as Joy Fay Bardwell, one year old, of Brookhaven, Miss.; Alice Jackson Russell of Wesson, aunt of the child, Ovid West, of Jackson, and Joe Miles of Arcadia, La.

The infant's mother and four-year-old sister, Mrs. Evelyn Bardwell, and Lorena Bardwell, were among the injured. Others treated for various injuries were Elizabeth Gordon of Biloxi, Denon Russell, husband of the woman killed, and Gus Williams of Belzoni, Miss.

The Greyhound headquarters at Jackson said the bus was the second section of the regular run and was due in McComb at 4:30 a. m. Patrolman Simmons said the truck was owned by the Jim Tatum Trucking Company of Harvey, La., and was en route to Harvey with a load of heavy steel oil field drilling pipe.

The injured were taken to hospitals in Magnolia, Brookhaven and McComb, and most of them were released soon after treatment.

Simmons said that the Russell and Bardwells were among several members of the family traveling on the bus.

The highway officer said that other passengers told him that Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Bardwell had exchanged infants a short time before the crash.

The Greyhound company said the bus was driven by Glen Burton Troclair, of New Orleans. Simmons identified the truck driver as Tony Perez of Harvey, La.

OPTIMISTS ARE FAVORING LEVY

Club Believes Small Tax Required For Library Aid

The Optimist club of greater Monroe went on record Friday as favoring the proposed one-half mill tax to be used for the maintenance of the Ouachita Public Library system.

Miss Frances Flanders, librarian of the Ouachita Parish Library, discussed the library system and the benefits that would be derived from this one-half mill maintenance tax.
She said the police jury will meet sometime in June to set a date for voting on this measure.

Miss Flanders said the library system is very ancient and Egypt and Mesopotamia had libraries as far back as 5000 B. C. The first libraries were in monasteries and were very limited in books and recorded information as well as the circulation of them.
The first library in the United States was in 1700 and the first tax supported library was in Salisbury, Conn., in 1810.

She said the library is a Democratic system for the use of all people and is not for the exclusive use of anyone nor is it imposed on anyone by any governmental agency. The Ouachita Parish Library is organized under the terms of the Louisiana library law and is supported from funds appropriated by the police jury, city of West Monroe, and city of Monroe. The public library aids people in every walk of life: the business man searching for information concerning his business, the student in all lines of research, and people in their everyday problems and hobbies.

According to the American Library Association standards the Ouachita
Parish Library should have a book collection of 118,000 books but at the present time they have only 27,000.
Each year a certain number of books are supposed to be added and of the 5,000 quota for last year only 1,600 were added. From appropriations of a little over $7,000 and rentals and fines of a little over $2,000 the Ouachita library received a total of $9,- 448 to be used in its support.

Ouachita parish is the fifth largest and fourth richest parish in the state but it gave the poorest support to its library of any one of the twenty-three parishes with libraries. Ouachita parish spent only 16c per capita on its library as compared to the national standard of $1.00 per capita.
This one-half mill tax is supposed to be used exclusively for maintenance such as improving the stock of books in all lines and especially those in which they are weak, additions to the professional staff so they will be able to stay open nights, and purchase of a book-mobile to carry books to rural residents. This $25,000 will make 43c per capita as compared with last year's 16c per capita. None of the money will be used for building purposes.

Of the 63 parishes in Louisiana only 23 have libraries and 40 are without.
There are two parishes that have a one-half mill tax; one with a three-fourth mill tax; seven with a one-mill tax; two with one and one-half mill tax; one with a one and three-fourth mill tax; three with a two-mill tax, and one with a three-mill tax.
Ouachita parish is included in the group of six parishes that are supporting their library by appropriation instead of a special tax.

The guests at the meeting were Miss Frances Flanders and George Reitze.

Adj. Charles Stratford instructed the Optimist softball team to meet at the Neville stadium Tuesday night at 7 p. m., for practice.

To the Editor:
In the past few days several horsemen of the Twin Cities have been receiving letters and bulletins from the Ajax horseman, a contemplated magazine for the horse lovers of this community. The prospectus for this magazine shows that it has adopted the following motto—"All the gossip that's fit to print" and "Sees all—knows all —above all—tells all."

J. M. Moorehead, a prominent horseman of the Twin Cities, has been selected as gossip reporter for said magazine. The staff of this publication should be congratulated on its selection of Mr. Moorehead. It is the general opinion among the horsemen of this community that a better selection could not have been made. I feel along with many others, that the success of this enterprise is already assured with Mr. Moorehead gathering the news and reporting it in his very able way.
Success in a big way to the Ajax Horseman.

Our Drivers' License Law

For a state long menaced by an increasingly appalling incidence of violent death on its streets and highways, the drivers' license program, which will go into effect on July first, promises to afford at least some relief to one of our most shameful and heretofore neglected problems.

Far behind the rest of the nation in instituting a system of standards for the operation of a motor vehicle, Louisiana should now be able to contemplate a period of safer and less abhorrent driving.

Of course no law is a substitute for individual discipline. Not even the most carefully contrived manifold of traffic and drivers' regulations is sufficient to eliminate accidents, fatalities and injuries arising from incompetence and irresponsibility. But the presence of enforceable restraints may to some degree clear the roads of those who hold their own and the lives of others in so little value.

For the first time in the state there will be minimum criteria to be met before someone can take the wheel of an automobile, and there will be penalties, in the form of suspension or revocation of a license in addition to regular criminal prosecution, to prevent repetitions of an offense.

The drivers' license law, enacted by the 1946 legislature, will first give the state power to test any or all of its estimated 600,000 motorists for their knowledge of traffic ordinances and their actual ability to drive.

Second, the law, through its power to deprive a driver of his permit, will enable enforcement of existing laws against speeding, careless and reckless and drunken driving, and other offenses involving a motor vehicle. In addition, the law provides for license revocations for bond forfeitures on serious traffic offenses.

The law will serve also to end some of the hazardous driving by youngsters, so many of whom are apparently unable to comprehend their responsibility to themselves and others. No one under the age of 15 may obtain a license to drive a car, nor under 14 to drive a motorbike or motor scooter, and all minors who become 15 after February 1, this year, must take an examination before obtaining a license.

If a motorist is convicted, pleads guilty, or forfeits a bond on any one of six specific crimes involving operation of a motor vehicle, he loses his license for at least a year.

Those crimes, as listed in the law, state act 255 of 1946, are:

Manslaughter or negligent homicide resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle.

Driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a narcotic drug.

Any felony in the commission of which a motor vehicle is used.

Failure to stop and render aid as required under the laws of the state in the event of a motor vehicle accident resulting in the death or personal injury of another.

Perjury or the making of a false statement or affidavit under oath to the department of public safety under the drivers' license act or any other law relating to the operation or ownership of motor vehicles.

Conviction or forfeiture of bail upon three charges of reckless driving committed within a period of three months.

The revocation is for a period of 12 months.

The law provides further that the department of public safety may conduct an investigation to determine whether a license should be suspended, cancelled, or revoked if the records or other evidence shows that the licensee:

Has committed an offense for which mandatory revocation of license is required upon conviction.

Has been involved as a driver in any accident resulting in the death or personal injury of another or serious property damage.

Has been convicted of serious offenses against traffic regulations governing the movement of vehicles as to indicate a disrespect for traffic laws and a disregard for the safety of other persons on the highways.

Is a habitually reckless or negligent driver of a motor vehicle.

Is incompetent to drive a motor vehicle.

Has permitted unlawful or fraudulent use of such a license.

Has committed an offense in another state which, if committed in Louisiana, would be grounds for suspension or revocation.

Is afflicted with such mental or physical infirmities as would constitute grounds for refusal of a license.

Transfer of a license, or driving without one, are therefore bases for penalties, the same as any other violation. So far the public has exhibited a desire for cooperation in the program. Almost half of the 600,000 drivers in the state have already applied for or received their licenses, and the number is swelling day by day as the deadline draws nearer.

It is natural to expect that most drivers are eager for safe conditions of operation, and that only a small percentage, through blithe inconsideration or else contemptible unconcern, is to blame for most of the accidents. That minority, however, will continue to exist despite drivers' licenses, just as the criminal element of our population is undeterred by statutes and punishment. It is with this group that law enforcement officers must avail themselves of all of the provisions of the licensing act, to remove them completely and finally from the public roads on which they have no place.

With a toll of 479 killed and 14,370 injured in motor accidents during the past year, the drivers' license act needs no other justification.

ANCE: Peggy Cummins in "Moss Rose." . . . Reading a gossip column written by one of Hollywood's pure emotion ladies, I couldn't help but wonder what run-of-the-mill married folks would think of her latest report about the marital bliss of the Errol Flynns. She wrote: "If you think the Errol Flynn marriage isn't working out, just listen to this—for the first time since their marriage, Nora and the two children have moved into Errol's home." Impressive, ain't it?

I think, when you see Coleen Gray, 20th Century's new find, in "Nightmare Alley," that you'll agree with me that she's one of the most promising screen debuts in many a year. Particularly significant is the determination with which she has fought for a career. She came here, nearly three years ago, from a Minnesota farm, sans adequate dramatic training, and sans influence. Her first bid for studio recognition was a complete failure, but she resolved to seek it out. She worked as a waitress for a year and a half, and as a librarian for another year before getting the nod from Lady Luck—and a chance to convince Darryl Zanuck of 20th that she had what screen success demands. That kind of sticktoitiveness is more important than beauty in the quest for stardom.

For every new prospect being signed today, three or four players are being dropped from the major studio contract lists. At Warner Brothers, for instance, Arlene Dahl and Martha Vickers, both in the featured player class, were handed contract termination notices the other day. It looks like the money-moon is over, and if that surmise is correct, hard times are ahead for perhaps fifty per cent of the actors and actresses in picture business. Retrenchment is now the order of the day, and the big producers, terrified by falling box-office and soaring production costs, are very apt to cut adrift all players except those with big fan followings and those who look like best bets for future stardom.

News that Harold Raymon, unable to get work in Hollywood, since he made headlines as "the man in the Lupe Velez case," is now going to Europe in quest of work, is interesting from one angle only. Since the Fatty Arbuckle scandal, he's the only Hollywood actor actually penalized for misbehavior. (Released by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

News BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Some people believe you may escape a thing by ignoring it. They work on the basis that if anyone will just imagine a thing does not exist, it does not exist. For them, yet it is a little difficult to escape a bear by ignoring it. It is also difficult to escape the influence of $5,000,000 by not seeing it. But it is not difficult to have been done. I work on a little different basis. If a thing exists and I see it or hear it or feel it, I believe it exists. Especially have I believed this of things which I thought were after me, a bear of any variety, for instance. I always suspected this was primarily essential to self-preservation, little more than a normal animal instinct.

But I know this cannot be true, because practically everyone seems to have decided to ignore the month old move of the revived CIO-PAC and affiliated organization to spend some where between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 in a few months, or possibly $800,000 a month to influence public opinion against Congressmen on the labor bill and permanently to turn and control American public opinion. In short, CIO-PAC is proposing to spend a colossal sum to defeat Congressmen as it did when riding high a few years back. At that time it succeeded in knocking off several prominent legislators in the South without letting anyone suspect what was up.

As I say, all I know is what I see, feel and hear. I missed this year, and its significance isn't. But when I saw and heard things began happening to me. I tried to ascertain the source of these events and came upon this phenomena.

My clipping service and others more expensive, have been able to find only three clips on CIO-PAC in two months. Six or seven paragraphs down in the New York Times story on the front page April 14 I find a bare mention. This story was about the recent efforts of CIO to raise support against the union reform and other union bills, calling it a damnable conspiracy as one of the mildest terms. But if you read the usual stuff at the top closely, you will eventually come upon a quotation from Philip Murray, President of CIO, at a rally in New York saying just this: One dollar a month will be raised in voluntary subscriptions from CIO members. The article did not suggest even a wary reader the sum total of this, or the almanac claim that CIO has 6,000,000 members. It left an impression with me, at any rate, that this was just for a month or so to fight the legislation. But the same story quotes Jack Kroll, head of CIO-PAC, as saying CIO-PAC was being revived permanently on a local basis in wards, precincts and neighborhoods to take public opinion. Subsequently inside information confirms and expands all this major permanent undeviated drive.

An AP story in the Washington Star gave more prominence on April 14th to the idea with a headline: "CIO reorganizes PAC for real job in 1948" (But something entirely different because it suggests activities are mainly directed toward next year). The New York Herald-Tribune the same day headlines its story: "CIO-PAC to work on an intimate scale," which showed a greater appreciation of the significance. One of these two stories quoted Murray as suggesting $3,000,000 or $3,500,000 would be raised, which is again different from the N. Y. Times indication of $1 per CIO member. I use the $5,000,000 figure because it represents average C. I. O. membership in a constituency in contrast to the almanac claim of 6,500,000, or the lower Murray figure which would indicate that at one dollar apiece, C. I. O. has only half as many men as claimed.)

That is all I can find in the press files, concerning this phenomena of contradictions and avoidance of publicity. How this happened I do not know. But I can see the result, even results which are being begun, known, which show this is the general campaign C. I. O. P. A. C. has attempted, if not the biggest.

You know, of course, of the general charge that C. I. O. P. A. C. has been dominated in key spots by Communists around the country. Some claim it has been purged and other labor insiders claim communies are too dangerous to see the result, even nullified. You know also of the popularity now of local movements, since the Newburyport price plan, the Dunkirk society and some others. My own evidence is somewhat limited on both subjects. These local movements, however, have no $3,000,000 a month, if any money.

Now maybe Republican congressmen can escape this thing created to devour them. Maybe other avenues of reaching public opinion can also be used. Personally I will continue on a different assumption.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

RELIGIOUS REFORMS IN JUDAH
Scripture: II Kings 22:10, 11; 23:1-5, 21
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

One of the mysteries of life is why good men should sometimes have evil sons. However, it is a compensating fact that sometimes evil men have very good sons.

Both facts are strikingly illustrated in the history of the kings of Judah who came after Hezekiah. Hezekiah, as we have seen, was a relatively good king, and his long reign was marked by safety and prosperity. Included was the remarkable deliverance from the hosts of Assyria were destroyed and turned back by the plague that struck their camp as they were about to overwhelm Judah.

But the impressive influences of that deliverance were soon forgotten in the lon reign of Hezekiah's son, Manasseh, who was a corrupt and evil king. It is recorded that he not only shed innocent blood, but that he sought to overthrow and destroy the religion of Israel.

He set up altars and practices of idolatry and turned to all methods of sorcery and abominable practice. His son, Amon, proved no better, being reigned for only two years when his own servants conspired against him and slew him.

Then came the good son of a bad father. The conspirators against Amon were themselves slain by those who took Josiah, Amon's son, then a boy of 8, and made him king. He ruled Judah for 31 years, and he must have been under good influences from the first, for as boy and man he was commendably great and strong.

Good and well-intentioned men are often lacking in initiative and force-

GRACE CHURCH ACCORDS HONORS

Dedicates Window As Memorial To Members Who Gave Lives

An impressive service was held under the direction of L. B. Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion, on Memorial day at Grace Episcopal church, to honor the memory of the men from the church who made the supreme sacrifice in World War Two. The men so honored are James D. Collier and Noel Fairfax Learned.

A handsome window which depicts the resurrection of our Lord with the three Marys at the empty tomb with their veils to anoint the Body of Christ—along with the Angels announcing the Resurrection—are shown on the window. The only inscription is, "Greater love hath no man."

Later it is hoped to erect near this window tablets that will bear the names of all men from this church who were participants in the war.

The revised manual of ceremonies for the American Legion was used for the Memorial day service and Post Commander Walter Kellogg read the following ritual:

"It is well to remember that Memorial day originated at the close of the Civil War and therefore points of the American Legion should give due recognition on the program to veterans of earlier wars. Comrades, this day is sacred with the almost visible presence of those who have gone before us. We honor the memory of those who gave their lives in the service of our country, and of those others who have dropped their burdens by the wayside of life, and are gone to their eternal rest. May the ceremonies of today deepen your reverence for our dead. Let us resolve by word and deed to emphasize the privilege and duty of patriotism."

There was a prayer by the post chaplain, Rev. Ernest Duncan Holway, after which the service was turned over to the rector who proceeded with the dedication of the handsome window.

The service was largely attended. Members of the legion post attending in a body.

WINNSBORO, May 31.—(Special)—The Winnsboro P-T. A. is sponsoring a show of "Redskins on Parade," which will be held in Winnsboro High School auditorium June 10.

This variety show is made up of students of the Northeast Junior College, and has a cast of 20, with many songs and dance numbers, plus comedy skits and a chorus of beautiful girls, with original music written by Musical Director Whitnigton.

Tickets for the play are now on sale and the reported price of admission will be 50 cents, tax included.

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy Is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, undue worry, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that a low blood count is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice which is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood, Start on SSS Tonic now. IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—(AP)—Film producers who are looking for a good actress are hereby notified that a girl by the name of Katharine Cornell is available.

For years the great lady of the American stage supposedly was unobtainable for pictures. Some thought she would never consider films. But "I go to the movies often and no one enjoys them more," she told me in her dressing room at the Biltmore Theater. "I would love to do a picture."

But there is a hitch. "The picture would have to be just right," she said. "It would have to be a character to fit my age, (49) a character I could believe in. And I would have to make sure that I was not making a mistake."

She explained that she has built up a reputation in the theater and it might be destroyed by a poor picture. "The longer I wait the harder it is to try pictures," she continued, "but I definitely want to do it because I feel they are a part of our modern life. Just as the garage mechanic wants to fly, the actor should want to try the movies."

The actress emphasized that she could not divide her time between the stage and screen, as some stars do.

"I would have to give all my time to one medium or the other. I devote all of my life to my work. I don't have an evening's performance will be as good as opening night, or even better. Because I won't be as nervous. Which may help explain why she is the biggest attraction in the U. S. theater today."

"My first duty is to the stage," she emphasized, and there is no doubt that she has served it well. In one year she played 72 cities, and many times she has brought life to the "road," during periods when it was in a rut.

Miss Cornell is closing her perennial "Barretts of Wimpole Street," here next week and will rest until the fall when she will perform "Anthony and Cleopatra," with Godfrey Tearle on Broadway.

After that, gentlemen of Hollywood, she may be available.

OAKLEY PLANTATION SLATED TO BECOME NEW STATE PARK

Commission Proposes To Purchase Former Audubon Home

By Conrad Manley
BATON ROUGE, La., May 29.—(AP)—Oakley plantation, once the residence of America's great ornithologist and bird painter, John James Audubon, is destined to become Louisiana's newest state park if plans of the state legislature, expressed last week in an appropriation of $10,000 for its purchase, are fulfilled.

The state parks commission proposed to purchase the 140-year-old home and sufficient acreage surrounding it in the rolling hills of West Feliciana parish to make it an Audubon memorial. The state board of land and natural resources, which is in charge of the purchase, will make a report to the legislature.

The report, officials explained, will recommend that the proposed plan for the purchase of the plantation be approved. The amount of land to be included in the new park—the 2,500 acres which make up the present plantation—is to be determined by negotiation, he added.

The old home, built with slave labor by Rufin Gray in 1808-10 on a Spanish land grant, dating back to 1770, is of wood construction, three stories above the ground level, built with long, deep porches across front and back, shielded by paneled shutters. Exterior stairways rise to the porches.

Almost inaccessible because of the condition of the dirt road connecting the plantation with State Highway 323 to St. Francisville, four miles to the northwest, the old house is now closed to visitors. Its present owner is Miss Lucy L. Matthews, a descendant of Oakley's builder, and locally it is known as "The Matthew Place."

John Audubon, after a series of failures, was attempting to get a foothold in New Orleans as a painter when Mrs. Lucy Pirrie, owner of Oakley, engaged him in 1821 as a tutor for her beautiful 15-year-old daughter, Eliza.

"She asked me," Audubon noted in his journal, "to think about my spending the summer and fall at the plantation. He accepted for $80 a month he agreed to devote half of his time to teaching Eliza 'drawing, music, dancing, etc., etc.'"

The remainder of his hours were free to roam the Feliciana woods and hills, sketching and painting birds for the volume which was later to bring him fame—"Birds of America." Some 66 of his paintings in the work were reportedly done at this period.

Audubon also lived on other plantations in the St. Francisville area and was known as "my lovely Miss Pirrie," also added romantic luster to the old residence. She eloped at 17 with her cousin, Robert Hilliard Barrow, who fled with her to Natchez. Reaching a flooded stream on the way, Robert swept his fiancée into his arms and waded across, getting thoroughly soaked. He developed a cold, which turned into pneumonia, and within a few weeks the young bride was a widow.

Reaching a flooded stream on the way, Robert swept his fiancée into his arms and waded across, getting thoroughly soaked. He developed a cold, which turned into pneumonia, and within a few weeks the young bride was a widow.

Eliza married twice more, the second time to a young Episcopal minister from Pennsylvania, the Rev. William Robert Bowman, who established in 1827 the first protestant organization in Louisiana outside of New Orleans—Grace Church, near St. Francisville. Her third husband was another Pennsylvanian, Henry E. Lyons. Eliza died at 45 in the same year that her former tutor, Audubon, passed away.

Near the proposed new state park is another—the Louisiana Memorial Park dedicated to Jefferson Davis first wife where tragic history closely paralleled that of Eliza Pirrie's first husband.

Sarah Knox Taylor, daughter of President Zachary Taylor of Baton Rouge, married the future confederate president in June, 1825. Within three months she was dead of malaria, dying at Locust Grove plantation in West Feliciana, where her memorial now stands.

The proposal to make a state park of Oakley plantation was advanced by the Alexander Stirling chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and a bill to purchase the home was unsuccessfully introduced by Rep. Davis Folkes of Jackson during the 1946 legislative session.

During the Civil War, union troops moving up the Mississippi River following the capture of Baton Rouge and Port Hudson, occupied Oakley, looting it of all valuables but its silver which had been hidden under loose boards in the attic.

SHELTER GIVEN TO ABD EL KRIM

CAIRO, May 31.—(AP)—The Kingdom of Egypt gave shelter tonight to Abd El Krim, the aging riffler desert warrior, who may become another of the exiled Arab leaders directing Arab campaigns for independence in African and middle eastern countries under Egyptian protection.

Abd El Krim, 67-year-old leader of the Rif rebellion of the 1920's that threatened French and Spanish rule over Morocco, arrived in Port Said today from 21 years exile on Reunion Island in the Indian ocean.

He told newsmen at Suez Friday that he had been granted amnesty by the French government and intended to settle in France, but announced today that he had accepted an invitation of King Farouk I to live in Egypt.

With a party of about 40, most of whom were members of his large family, Abd El Krim disembarked at Port Said from a ship taking him from Madagascar to France. He traveled to Cairo by train and bus and took up temporary residence here at Morocco House, headquarters of the "Morocco Committee of Liberation," which is attempting to gain independence for French and Spanish Morocco.

In Paris, a French foreign office source expressed "amazement" at Abd El Krim's leaving the ship and entering Egypt.

"We know he was under strong pressure," the source said, "but this move does not seem in line with the Moroccan chieftain's tradition of keeping his word of honor."

(Charles D'Aragnon, a member of the national assembly, said he would question Colonial Minister Marius Moutet at the next assembly session concerning Abd El Krim's "escape.")

Should Abd El Krim conduct himself politically in Egypt as has Haj Amin El Hussini, the mufti of Jerusalem who escaped from exile in France in June, 1946, he will take a leading part in planning the strategy for Arab independence, particularly in Morocco.

The mufti is chairman of the Arab executive committee of Palestine and is leading the fight against Jewish immigration to the Holy Land and for Arab independence there.

Another exiled Arab nationalist living in Egypt is Fawzi El Kaui, leader of the Arab revolt against British in Palestine in 1936, who is directing, apparently by remote control, the activities of the recently merged Najada and Falawah groups, the so-called Arab armies of Palestine which claim a combined strength of 45,000 men.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE REPRESENTATIVES NAMED

WINNSBORO, La., May 31.—(Special)—Mary Lou Applewhite, daughter of Mrs. R. E. Applewhite, and R. A. Eubanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Eubanks, paper carrier for the News-Star-World, Monroe, were selected to represent Franklin Parish at Pelican Girls' and Boys' State.

The program will be held on the Louisiana State University campus. The Boys' State will be held from August 11 through August 19, and the Girls' State, August 20 through August 28.

Since its inception eight years ago, this program has grown and is receiving the enthusiastic support of all types of sponsoring organizations. Mary Lou Applewhite is being sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary department, R. A. Eubanks is sponsored by the Lions Club of Winnsboro.

The primary objective of the Boys and Girls' State is to educate our youth in the duties, rights, and responsibilities of citizenship. It also develops character and leadership.

DEATHS

T. H. FULLER

DOWNSVILLE, La., May 31.—(Special)—Funeral services for T. H. Fuller, 51, of near Downsville, who died at the Veterans' Hospital at Alexandria last Sunday, were held at Mt. Ararat Church last Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Alton Taylor and the Rev. J. Duff Smith officiating. Interment followed in Mt. Ararat Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville.

Mr. Fuller, a native of this community, was a veteran of World War I and also a Mason. Military rites by the Farmerville American Legion, and Masonic rites were conducted at the grave. Mr. Fuller became a member of the Downsville Lodge No. 143, Free and Accepted Masons, April 19, 1919, and members of his lodge officiated in the Masonic rites.

Legion members who served as pallbearers were S. D. Reech, Allen Grafton, R. A. Roan, Joe Ollie Albritton, Bob Kennedy, and Bob Owens.

Mr. Fuller is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rowena Hicks Fuller; three sons, Bruce Fuller and Bobby Joe Fuller, Downsville, and Calvin Fuller, West Monroe, who recently returned from military service in Germany; two sisters, Mrs. I. H. Garland, Rayville, and Mrs. M. O. Bearden, Downsville; and five brothers, Louis Fuller and G. C. Fuller, Monroe, W. C. Fuller and A. C. Fuller, Rayville, and O. B. Fuller, Start.

INFANT PARHAM

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Parham, 303 Stubbs avenue, Monroe, died at birth Saturday afternoon in a local sanitarium.

The body will remain at the Hall Funeral Home until final arrangements have been made, pending arrival of the father from Pennsylvania.

The infant is survived by her parents, her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Smith, Monroe, and her paternal grandmother.

MISS ELIA JAMES BURNS

Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 p.m. for Miss Elia James Burns, 88, 1107 N. 3rd street, who died Saturday at 3 p.m. after a few days illness in a Monroe hospital.

Services will be held in the Davis-Lawhead Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. L. T. Hastings officiating. Interment will follow at the Riverside Burial Park, under the direction of the Davis-Lawhead Funeral Home, 1008 Jackson street.

Miss Burns is survived by one brother, J. R. Burns, owner of the Bob Burns Printing Co. of this city; two sisters, Miss Carrie Burns Allied, Monroe, and Mrs. W. M. Cassey, Jackson, Miss.

Followers will be J. S. Petty, Sidney Moore, Chief of Police J. D. Busby, Captain H. S. Ward, P. E. Massey and Nathan Kern.

On the military front, a communist land mine derailed a train on the Peiping-Mukden line 36 miles northeast of Tangku. Chinese press accounts said hundreds of passengers were injured but gave no death list.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who flew to Mukden to put spine into his troops' defense of Manchuria, speculated that the communists had ordered a new strategy in which the government forces would avoid past over-extension of their lines, which has permitted communist attacks at will.

The communists meanwhile were attacking Kaiyuan, on the Changchun-Mukden railway 60 miles northeast of Mukden and were shelling Szepekiang, 105 miles north of Mukden, and Pulantian, 45 miles north of Soviet-occupied Daren.

Government accounts reported recapture of Changtu, 75 miles north of Mukden, after a brief communist occupation.

FIVE STUDENTS KILLED IN CHINA

Scores Are Injured Or Missing Following Riot In Canton

SHANGHAI, May 31.—(AP)—A riot in Canton in which five students were reported killed and scores were injured or missing featured China's deepening crisis today.

The civil war worsened, currency declined steadily and the nation figuratively held its breath in anticipation of the threatened anti-war student demonstrations two days hence.

Dispatches from Canton said 2,000 students of Sun Yat-Sen University began a premature demonstration and that five were "bumped off" in a melee for which responsibility was not clearly fixed.

The Canton Garrison clapped an 11 p.m. curfew on the city, patrolled the streets in armored cars and searched incoming trains and ships for suspected troublemakers.

In Shanghai, troops continued arresting alleged communist agents but apparently ceased seizing students after Friday's pre-dawn raids on dormitories. University professors were seeking to win the release on habeas corpus of the 40-odd students already apprehended. The professors themselves continued on a protest strike along with thousands of students.

Martial law and 10 p.m. curfew were invoked afresh in Peiping when the police asserted that a band of 200 communists had infiltrated into the city to foment unrest. Peiping police indicated they intended to suppress any public demonstrations but there was evident uneasiness over what might happen Monday.

The black market rate of government currency went to 33,000 to $1 U. S., and was rising steadily. The official rate remained 12,000 to 1, but financiers predicted the government would have to change it to approach reality.

The government's cost-of-living index, on which wages are fixed, was raised more than 70 per cent in June, but workers immediately complained that it was still far behind prices.

DAMAGED CROPS ARE INSPECTED

Committee Of Agricultural Experts Visits Poisoned Areas

Six farms in the Bayou Bartholomew section of Ouachita and Morehouse parishes were inspected Saturday by a committee of agricultural experts appointed at a meeting held Thursday at the Agricultural building in West Monroe. The committee, which included J. W. Carson, extension agronomist, Louisiana State University; Dr. W. T. Penfound, professor of botany, Tulane University; and Dr. Clair A. Brown, professor of botany at the Louisiana State University, inspected these areas in regards to complaints of farmers that a new chemical weedicide, 2,4-D, sprayed on the Bayou in order to kill water hyacinths and other vegetation clogging up the stream, had damaged their crops.

In previous meetings farmers have charged that the chemical had caused extensive devastation of their cotton plantings.

J. J. Joyce, Jr., Ouachita Parish Agricultural agent, reported that the farmers whose farms that were inspected had been advised as to how to handle the affected crops.

Some members of the committee will be away, completing duties at their respective universities, meanwhile farmers are encouraged to continue normal cultivation of their crops until contacted by the committee, Joyce said. He also asked that farmers who expect or fear injury to their crops to inform him for aid.

The first body recovered was that of the landlady of the two-story brick structure at 35 West Dakota Avenue. She was Mrs. Gertrude Rowan, 60. Killed with her was her 11-year-old grandson, Richard Rowan.

About two hours after the blast at 1 p. m. (EST) searchers found the body of a man police said was M. C. Breckenridge, 68, whose head was crushed.

Two of eight persons taken to Denver General hospital were reported in critical condition.

Digging for other possible victims continued. Police Capt. L. C. Morton said tax escaping from a broken line set off the blast.

Although no fire followed the explosion, firemen prohibited anyone nearby from smoking because of the danger of escaping gas.

"The entire building went up in the air and settled down on the foundation," said Mrs. Wanda Kough of Granby, Colo., who saw the blast.

Windows of nearby buildings were shattered.

Dorsey Childs, 23, said the explosion caused his wife to collapse and left him bed, in which he had been lying five minutes earlier, hanging out the front of his apartment.

With his wife's limp form over one shoulder, Childs crawled down a telephone pole cable to safety.

MONROE CHOSEN FOR MINIATURE RACE CAR EVENT

Southern Regional Speedway Classic Scheduled For July 6 Here

The contest board of the American Miniature Race Car Association has selected Monroe as the site for the running of the southern regional races on July 6 when three other regional races are also being conducted in other sections of the country preparatory to the national event August 14-18 at Indianapolis, Ind. It was announced here yesterday by "Frank" Brennan, Monroe, southern regional director and a leader of the Louisiana Miniature Race Car Club of Monroe.

E. D. Fitzgerald, New York, notified Brennan of Monroe's selection for the southern regional which will attract miniature automobile racers from all sections of the south. Other regional races are being held on the west coast, midwest and east.

The regionals will be divided into two classes for prototype and soured machines. The winners in each class will receive an all-expenses-paid trip to the Nationals at Indianapolis in August. The regionals are expected to attract at least 3,000 miniature race car owners from 200 clubs scattered throughout the nation. All contestants must be members of the A. M. R. C. A., and the annual membership fee is two dollars.

The usual practice runs held by members of the Monroe club on Sunday afternoons at Lakeside Country Club will not be run today since members of the organization left at noon yesterday for New Orleans to compete against New Orleans-owned cars on the Lake Pontchartrain beach speedway. It will be the second straight week-end away for Brennan who last Sunday attended a race at Champions, Ill.

Monroe miniature racers appearing in New Orleans today in addition to Brennan will be Fred Keller, Guy Dean, John Martin, and Goldman Grant.

The local club is also making arrangements for a strictly local event next Sunday at Lakeside to which the public is invited to attend. Two miniature cars will be given away at the next Sunday session to persons attending the event.

Brennan also pointed out yesterday, before departing for New Orleans, that the July 6 regional races here should not be confused with the Monroe club's annual classic scheduled for November 11.

The Monroe club is open to new members at all times, Brennan said, and for the benefit of persons not acquainted with the little cars but desiring to learn more about them, classes will be held twice each week for their instruction free of charge.

FERRIDAY RED SOX SET FOR CAMPAIGN

FERRIDAY, La., May 31.—(Special)—Because of the funeral services for Daniel B. Fleming, former mayor, business man and state senator of Ferriday, the scheduled opening of the Gray-McCearley Post No. 148 of the American Legion with Delphi on Thursday afternoon was postponed.

With ten Legion teams listed in the North Louisiana American Legion District, the Red Sox have been divided into two leagues—the East League and the West League. The East League comprises Ferriday, Winnboro, Rayville and Delphi.

The Ferriday nine is fast rounding into form under the coaching of Cotton Jones and Hal Burley. Last week the Red Sox defeated the Jonesville Juniors and the Natchez Juniors. They lost a 10-inning game to the fast Delphi club in a non-league game.

The Ferriday Juniors roster is as follows: Pitchers, Jimmy Wilson, S. L. Porter, and Hal Harp; catchers, Milton Parker and Cecil Hart; first basemen, Alvin Stuart and Hal Harp; second base, Joe P. Lancaster; short stop, Charles Chauvin; third base, Billy Loom's; and Gene Horton; outfielders, Dennis Thomas, Charles Massey, Joe Hamilton, Wally Fugler, Charles Green and Billy Gore. According to Legion rules, boys from Vidalia, Jonesville, Waterproof and the Black River section are eligible to play with the Red Sox. Applicants should contact Coach Jones or Manager Warren W. Kelly.

Besides two league games each week, Coach Jones is seeking to schedule at least two non-league battles every seven days. The Red Sox are available for any American Legion team in this section.

MUNICIPAL GOLFERS TO VISIT NATCHEZ, JUNE 15

C. J. Shirah, professional at Municipal Golf Club here, last night said the Municipal golfers who beat Natchez, Miss., here last Sunday, would give Natchez a return engagement June 15.

Natchez is also seeking two other matches with the Sunnybuck club, Shirah said, another here and at Natchez, and it was reported the other proposed meetings would likely be arranged.

Municipal golfers who plan to participate in the June 15 matches are already being requested to register with Shirah for the event.

ATHLETICS ATTRACTING ATTENTION WITH SPURT IN AMERICAN STANDINGS

NEW YORK, La., May 31.—(AP)—Long-suffering Connie Mack clubs are dusting off their charters and rounding up forgotten brethren to celebrate the Philadelphia A's spurt into the thin air of fifth place in the American League.

The A's not only are in fifth place, but they're only a half game back of the Boston Red Sox, the weakly defending champions.

Two straight shutout wins over the New York Yankees have focused baseball attention on the Macks who are only a game below the 500 mark in the won and lost department.

Pitching has been the answer to the Philadelphia success story which must have surprised even Mr. Mack himself. Pitching and the fine play of First Baseman Ferris Fain, a Pacific Coast League rookie who is hitting .297 and the all-around work of Shortstop Eddie Joost.

Dick Fowler and Freshman Joe Coleman teamed up on the Yankees yesterday in one of the eight double headers that attracted a banner turnout of 283,550 fans. Fowler nosed out Spud Chandler, 1-0, in the opener although the A's touched Chandler for only three hits. Coleman gave up nine hits in the second win, 4-0, stretching New York's scoreless inning string to 21. It was a first win for Coleman, who prepped at Toronto.

Three local former titleholders will also be swinging in this year's set, Edwin McCure, Ross McDade and Jimmy McGonigall. McGonigall holds the all-time record for triumphs in the state tournament with six victories, scored in 1927, '29, '31, '32, '34 and '41. McDade captured the title in 1934, and McGonigall won in 1945.

Entries for this year's meet are expected from throughout the state, with New Orleans expected to have the biggest, headed by Raymond Salpicon, Archie Gonzalez and Don Zimmerman. Ray Bradford, runner-up in 1945, Rod Bushnell and Louis Peterie will carry the colors for Alexandria, while Monroe will have Bill Jones and "Shep" Girault. Lawrence Larcade, 1942 runner-up, is the hope of Opelousas.

The qualifying test will begin Thursday around 8 a.m. with the entries leaving in threesomes. It will continue throughout the day with the entry list staying open until 2 p.m.

A field of 23 will be bracketed in the championship flight, including the defending champion and the 31 low qualifiers, while the rest of the pack will be paired off in flights of 16 players each with enough flights assured to take care of all entered in the tournament.

Match play begins Friday morning with the championships in the lower flights to be decided Saturday afternoon. The championship finals will be played Sunday over the 36-hole route, 18 holes in the morning and 18, or as many as necessary, in the afternoon.

A driving and approaching and putting contest will be held during the tourney.

C. R. BAUR REGISTERS
HOLE-IN-ONE AT MUNY

C. R. Baur, Monroe, yesterday joined that select set of golfers who can claim to have scored a hole-in-one.

Baur, playing over the Municipal Golf Club's course, got his hole-in-one on the 109-yard No. 2 hole with an eight iron, Pro Jean Shirah announced last night, and his feat entitles him to a fountain pen and 1,000 cigarettes, standing rewards put up by national concerns for any golfers scoring aces.

Playing with Baur when he scored his ace were Henry Gilliland, E. W. Washington, and Aaron Parker.

JIMMY ADAIR OUSTED
AS SAN ANTONIO PILOT

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—After declaring earlier in the day that Jimmy Adair would remain as manager of the San Antonio Missions, the St. Louis Browns tonight announced he had been dismissed as pilot of the Texas League club.

Marc Carroll was in charge of the club tonight when it entrained for Beaumont.

A new manager is expected to be named within a few days.

Simultaneously, the president issued an executive order vesting his authority over the funds in Secretary of State Marshall. Mr. Truman still must appoint a field administrator.

Other presidential actions carried forward the work of dismantling wartime orders.

By executive order, the president restored the peacetime prohibition against government purchase of prison-made goods. The restriction was lifted in 1942 to bring federal and state prisoners into war production.

Other executive orders signed today (1) authorized the transfer of federal employees to the United States missions to Greece and Turkey; (2) restored some federal military land to Hawaii for public use; and (3) added three international bodies to the list of organizations granted tax-exemption.

The three are the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, The International Civil Aviation Organization, and The International Telecommunication Union.

Mr. Truman also added a new military tribunal to those trying major war criminals in Germany. He named as members Charles B. Sears, former associate judge of the New York court of appeals; William C. Christianson, former associate justice of the Minnesota supreme court; and Frank N. Richmond, former judge of the Indiana supreme court. As an alternate member he chose Richard Dillard Dixon, former judge of the North Carolina supreme court.

EXPECT RECORD ENTRY IN STATE AMATEUR GOLF

Monroe's Bill Jones And 'Shep' Girault Entered In Shreveport Event

SHREVEPORT, La., May 31.—(AP)—With a record field of more than 200 expected, Louisiana's top amateur golfers begin their quest of the 1947 state golf title at the Shreveport Country Club Thursday, when the one-day qualifying test will be run off as the curtain-raiser for the four-day affair.

The hopefuls will attempt to wrest the crown from Emile Zachariah of Baton Rouge, who won the championship last year at Baton Rouge by defeating Junius Hebert of Louisiana State University. Zachariah will defend his title this year and is expected in Shreveport Sunday to shoot a few practice rounds before the actual competition gets under way.

This year's event, the 26th annual, will have in the field at least five men who have won the title in previous years. In addition to Zachariah, Beverly Nabors, another Baton Rouge divot-digger who copped the title in 1939, will be seeking to move into the winner's circle again.

Three local former titleholders will also be swinging in this year's set, Edwin McCure, Ross McDade and Jimmy McGonigall. McGonigall holds the all-time record for triumphs in the state tournament with six victories, scored in 1927, '29, '31, '32, '34 and '41. McDade captured the title in 1934, and McGonigall won in 1945.

Entries for this year's meet are expected from throughout the state, with New Orleans expected to have the biggest, headed by Raymond Salpicon, Archie Gonzalez and Don Zimmerman. Ray Bradford, runner-up in 1945, Rod Bushnell and Louis Peterie will carry the colors for Alexandria, while Monroe will have Bill Jones and "Shep" Girault. Lawrence Larcade, 1942 runner-up, is the hope of Opelousas.

The qualifying test will begin Thursday around 8 a.m. with the entries leaving in threesomes. It will continue throughout the day with the entry list staying open until 2 p.m.

A field of 23 will be bracketed in the championship flight, including the defending champion and the 31 low qualifiers, while the rest of the pack will be paired off in flights of 16 players each with enough flights assured to take care of all entered in the tournament.

Match play begins Friday morning with the championships in the lower flights to be decided Saturday afternoon. The championship finals will be played Sunday over the 36-hole route, 18 holes in the morning and 18, or as many as necessary, in the afternoon.

A driving and approaching and putting contest will be held during the tourney.

NEGOTIATIONS

Lewis—for a welfare and retirement fund for miners. The five-cent levy now is building the fund at the rate of $25,000,000 or $30,000,000 annually.

Lewis also seeks to appoint two of the three trustees for the fund. The third would be named by the operators under his proposal.

O'Neill said the northwest operators are willing to agree to the present five-cent tonnage payment and selection of a third trustee by the operator and union representatives jointly. They also want a statement on the purposes of the fund.

The royalty and wage demands were the principal stumbling blocks to agreement, O'Neill and his colleagues indicated. They hinted that other demands might have been negotiated.

These included six paid holidays each year, a federal mine safety code, and unionization of mine foremen as provided now in the agreement between Lewis and Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Lewis and the operators also disagreed over the length of the proposed new contract. The operators wanted to make it run from July 1 until April 1, 1949. Lewis demanded a contract which he could terminate on 30 days' notice.

Lewis' 200-man policy committee which met yesterday and the day before was standing by over the weekend.

O'Neill said the operators' 15-cent counter offer had been rejected by the policy committee at its 15-minute meeting Thursday.

O'Neill said the Lewis wage demands alone would add 65 to 75 cents to the cost of producing a ton of coal.

The effect of such an adjustment on our economy would put the cost of coal at such a high place it would drive much business away from the industry," O'Neill said.

The operators reported that their negotiations with Lewis broke off "with a feeling of regret on both sides," but not bitterness.

O'Neill said every man on his negotiating committee is anxious to make an agreement on a "reasonable basis" but they told Lewis his wage demands were "unreasonable."

The strike threat July 1 arises from the United Mine Workers' tradition of "no contract, no work" and mining is expected to cease June 27 under an arrangement with the government to begin the ten-day vacation called for in the Krug-Lewis contract. Miners who will have worked for the government for the past twelve months will receive $100 on June 27.

However, only the Lewis wage demands actually will be under the government operation since its authority to operate expires June 30.

MAJOR ISSUES OF COAL DEADLOCKS ARE OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Here are the issues in the coal deadlock as outlined today by Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators:

Hours—John L. Lewis proposed cutting the work-day from nine hours to eight. The operators agreed to a 30-minute paid lunch period during which coal-drawings would cease, instead of the present 15-minute paid lunch period which does not interrupt operations because the miners eat at different times.

Wages—Lewis asked a basic rate of 141 cents an hour, plus 20.0 cents more to make up to the miners for shortening the work-day, making a total demand of 25 cents more. The operators offered a straight 15 cents an hour increase.

The operators said the union proposal would raise the daily wage from the present $11.85 to $13.05, despite the shorter day, and that their own offer would make it $11.35. They estimated that the wage and hour proposals combined would add about 70 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal.

Welfare fund—Lewis asked the operators to continue the welfare fund now provided by his contract with the government, but to contribute 10 cents a ton instead of the present five cents, and to let two of the three trustees be union representatives. The operators agreed to continue the fund with the five-cent levy and insisted on equal representation on the board of trustees.

Mine safety—both parties agreed to continue the federal mine safety code and reached a "tentative conclusion" to create a four-man joint safety committee, two from the union and two from the operators, but reached no agreement on what this committee's powers would be.

Supervisors—Lewis asked for continuation of the provision in his government contract which lets the National Labor Relations Board decide whether foremen and other supervisory employees shall be represented by the union. The operators want supervisors exempted from the contract.

Holidays—Lewis asked pay for not less than six holidays, and the operators said no. The miners are not paid now when they take a holiday.

Vacation pay—Lewis asked continuation of the present $100 of vacation pay annually, including the present "pro rata" provision which enables a man to get $112 of $100 for each month he was working during the year. The operators told reporters they would have accepted the $100 figure but they rejected the "pro rata" clause.

Saturdays and Sundays—Lewis proposed time-and-a-half pay for any Saturday work and double time for any Sunday work. The operators insisted on the present system of time-and-a-half for the sixth consecutive day worked and double time for the seventh consecutive day. That is, no overtime pay for Saturdays or Sundays unless they are the sixth or seventh consecutive days worked.

PEACE OFFICERS ELECT EXECUTIVES

should be the parole officer for his parish.

In addition, the association adopted these resolutions:

Calling for the passage by the state legislature of an automobile title law.

Asking the legislature to amend the section of the penal code requiring witnesses in arrest for a misdemeanor.

Expressing its appreciation for the cooperation of C. E. Weeks, special agent in charge of the Louisiana F. B. I. office, with law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

Thanking T. O. Bancroft, the Louisiana Motor Transport Association, Mayor H. H. Bennett, Commissioner C. R. Tidwell and W. D. Rodriguez, Sheriff Milton Coville, Police Chiefs J. D. Busby of Monroe and Jeff Caldwell of West Monroe, Captain H. T. Ward, Sergeant Hugh Tolbert, and Tom Wilson of Monroe and Lt. Deves for their parts in arranging for the convention.

Recognizing the "great efforts and achievements" of Sheriff Coville, in both his capacity of chief law enforcement officer of Ouachita Parish and president of the Louisiana Sheriffs Association.

Congratulating Sheriff Newman H. de Brelton of East Baton Rouge parish for his accomplishments in office and his recent election as president of the National Sheriffs Association.

Before the election of officers, members of the association heard H. H. Huckabay, director of the state department of public safety, declare that "due to cooperation, specialization, and effective training" the role and influence of the peace officer is "taking on a new importance."

"We who are peace officers believe that despite the growing complexities of our problems—despite such tasks as handling an expected post-war increase in crime, we are big enough and smart enough to cope with the problems," Huckabay said.

Huckabay also praised the adoption of a drivers license program as "a substantial step forward" in reducing the alarming rate of traffic accidents and fatalities.

Another encouraging sign, Huckabay added, is that "the branches of government designated by law and elected by the people to watch over their funds have begun to appreciate more and more the necessity of giving law enforcement every possible advantage in fighting a criminal element not bound by laws, decency, or conventions."

Also speaking at the concluding session Saturday morning was Louisiana Attorney General Fred LeBlanc, who declared that despite "our amazing advancement and progress" there are three things which "give us little reason for boasting: (1) lawlessness, (2) traffic accidents, and (3) juvenile delinquency."

Pointing out that 479 were killed and 14,726 were injured in the state in the last year through motor accidents, LeBlanc appealed to the officers for their assistance in the driver's license program and the safety campaign to be initiated by Governor Davis with the next two months.

LeBlanc also commended the efforts now underway to obtain standard traffic ordinances and penalties for violations.

The location of the next annual convention will be determined by the association's executive committee at a later date.

ly the recent air crashes might be the cause, the majority said the condition was normal in the middle of a week-end holiday.

RELATIVES ASSEMBLE TO MAKE IDENTIFICATIONS

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., May 31.—(AP)—Hushed relatives of the 33 dead in America's most terrible commercial air disaster came in from all over the south and east today to visit an improvised morgue and do their best to make identifications.

Not one of the victims of the crash last night of a southbound Eastern Airlines DC-4 escaped mutilation when the big plane struck and shattered.

The crash occurred shortly after 6:30 p. m. (EDT) in a heavily wooded section three miles east of Port Deposit, which lies in northern Maryland near the Pennsylvania border.

Forty-nine passengers, one of them a baby in its mother's arms, and four crew members were removed early today to the crash and desecrated cemetery at Bainbridge naval training station.

There the kinfolks, navy doctors and dentists, and Eastern Airlines' medical examiners began the slow and gruesome business of making identification through dental work, personal trinkets or distinguishing body marks.

The DC-4 left Newark at 4:55 p. m. last night bound for Miami and Miami of the dead were residents of the south or northeast.

The cause of the crash, whose death toll was the largest of any commercial airline disaster in United States history, remained much in doubt. Several witnesses, however, told investigators that the tail section of the four-engine ship came off before it crashed.

The Civil Aeronautics board announced in Washington it will decide next week on a date for public hearings on the disaster.

John Chamberlain, assistant director of the safety bureau, who saw the crash while flying over the Port Deposit area, said the hearings normally are held a week or ten days after an accident.

Meanwhile, CAB investigators, Eastern Airlines officials and a thousand men from the naval base spent the day looking over the scene and checking over the fragments, which were piled up in a long row on the DC-4.

Dr. R. C. Dodson, Cecil County medical examiner, expressed the hope that relatives would approve mass burial of the victims, possibly in nearby West Nottingham Cemetery.

It appeared, however, that relatives of those positively identified would choose separate burials.

The kin of the victims began arriving in the early morning. They were taken to the hostess house at the training station, where they talked in low and awed tones of the catastrophe.

After a few hours they were called to go by bus to the commissary building, several hundred yards away.

There in a long room the bodies had been placed on stretcher-like platforms about three inches from the floor. As rapidly as a body was identified it was marked with a number and doctors passed on to the next.

In charge of the work at the improvised morgue was Dodson, who was assisted by Capt. Raymond W. Murray, senior medical officer at the training station; Capt. John A. Walsh, senior dental officer, and Dr. H. K. Edwards, chief medical examiner for the airline.

"We are making progress in identification," Dr. Dodson said, "and hope to be more successful than we at first thought possible."

Two truckloads of clothing and personal effects salvaged from the crash scene were inspected by relatives before they passed on to the morgue to seek their dead loved ones.

In the tiny valley where the plane crashed, H. G. Myers, investigator at large for the CAB safety bureau, headed a group of investigators. Also on hand were representatives of the Civil Aeronautics Authority and about a dozen eastern airlines men.

Myers said a preliminary statement possibly would be made later on the crash. He said information on hand made it definite that weather was not the cause. The air was smooth last night and the ceiling was high, he said.

Typical of the descriptions of the moments preceding the disaster was that given by Seaman 1/c Frank Welch of Port Deposit, N. Y. Welch said he saw the plane flying at a height of from 1,500 to 2,000 feet when it started to turn over to the right.

"The plane tipped a little," Welch told investigators, "and then started to nose down. The whole tail assembly disintegrated and I counted nine separate pieces falling to the ground."

While the grim identification task went on at the training station, hundreds of sightseers beat their way to the isolated spot where the plane crashed. Their cars clogged highways.

Some walked on over the improvised roads made by navy personnel heaving the bodies, while others beat their way through underbrush to overrun the small valley.

A. M. Katz, who came here from Freeport, L. I. in an effort to identify the bodies, said his brother and sister-in-law were distraught because Memorial Day ceremonies reminded them of their son, Lt. Howard Katz of the Third Armored Division.

So they decided suddenly yesterday to go to Miami.

NUMBER IN LA GUARDIA CRASH INCREASED TO 41

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—The number of lives lost in the crash of a United Air Lines DC-4 plane Thursday night at La Guardia Field rose to 41, today with the death of two passengers in hospitals here.

They were: Miss Louise Warner, Charles J. Shannon, both of New York City.

Meanwhile, officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board went ahead with plans for a public hearing into the disaster which the airline said probably was caused by a freak gust of wind "of almost unbelievable suddenness."

The giant craft, carrying 44 passengers and a crew of four, crashed and

SEES DANGER IN HUNGRY GERMANS

Voorhees Says Communism To Take Over If U. S. Quits

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(P)—Tracy S. Voorhees, who administers food distribution for the War department in occupied countries, said tonight that Communism would "take over" if the U. S. quit feeding the Germans.

"Communism, like nature, abhors a vacuum, and there is no surer way to create a vacuum in the heart of Europe than to starve our zones in Germany," he said.

Voorhees' talk was for an NBC program, "our foreign policy."

He and Norris E. Dodd, undersecretary of agriculture, agreed that the German diet is miserably thin, the daily ration now being equal in calories to one loaf of bread.

Dodd said that the United States could greatly increase its shipments of food to Europe if there were plenty of boxcars to get the food to ship-side.

He said cars needed to ship grain are being used to ship new autos, refrigerators, radios, etc., and "if we took those cars to ship more grain, business would yell to high heaven."

"We are sitting on plenty while the rest of the world starves, unless people choose to do something about it," Dodd said.

"Overseas, people are desperate for food. Several thousand people are dying each month in Romania and other European countries from starvation and disease caused by under-nourishment."

"Switzerland and Sweden are the only two countries in Europe not desperately short of food."

Charles P. Kindleberger, chief of the State department's division on Germany and Austria, said the Germans "are not making all the effort they could" to feed themselves.

"Part of the blame should be put on weak German leadership," Kindleberger said. "Part of it should be put on lack of incentive the farmer has to get out and raise all the food he can. Supposing he does break his back getting in a harvest, and it's a good one, there's nothing he can buy with his money."

Kindleberger also said: "We have a positive occupation aim. It is to bring Germany back into the family of nations as a Democracy. You can't interest a man in Democracy when his belt buckle is ticking his spine. If we ever expect to get stability in Europe, Germany must contribute to it."

BISH MATHIS IS TO CELEBRATE

Business College Now 10 Years Old; To Hold Open House

The B. M. I. Business College, Monroe, La., opened its doors and began training people interested in a business career on June 7, 1937. This school has served the youth of north Louisiana during this time, qualifying a large number of efficient office workers which has proved very helpful to the business firms of this locality.

In way of celebrating its tenth anniversary the school is having a big homecoming party for all ex-students and present students on Friday, June 6. To begin this celebration there will be an open house at the school, located on the eighth floor of the Bernhardt building in Monroe, from three until six o'clock in the afternoon. This will be followed by a semi-formal dance on the roof garden of the Virginia hotel from eight until twelve in the evening.

This is a long-promised party which had to be postponed due to the war and so many of the ex-students' being in the service. All the ex-students contacted lately have been very enthusiastic about the party and are awaiting it with great anticipation. It will be more or less of a family reunion of the house of B. M. I.

The public is cordially invited to attend the open house, especially all business people who are interested in seeing a modern business college. The faculty and students will be on hand to tour all visitors through the modern classrooms in order that all may see the pleasant conditions under which students work while attending B. M. I.

The fresh produce that comes to New York City constitutes nearly 12 per cent of the total commercial production of fresh fruits and vegetables in the United States.

In the United States the average Negro man lives to be 56 years old and the average Negro woman to be fifty-nine and two-thirds years old.

RED CROSS IS CLOSING YEAR

Final Meeting For Fiscal Year Held; Reports Rendered

The Ouachita Parish Chapter Red Cross Board recently held the last meeting of this fiscal year.

George Snelling, Jr., fund campaign chairman, reported that it looked like the campaign would close with a deficit of $4,000. Mr. Snelling stated that he was re-collecting some of the big donors and that contributions were still being received.

O. N. McNeil, building committee chairman, reported that the downstairs of the Red Cross building is leased to two tenants.

A new home service policy was presented by Everett Burgoyne. This policy has been made by a committee that had studied the needs of Ouachita parish for approximately two months. A great deal of work had been spent on the formation of this policy. This committee is composed of Gilbert Faulk, chairman; Everett Burgoyne, Jeff Caldwell, C. B. Braun, Alva C. Huffman, F. C. McConnell, Mrs. C. M. Strauss, Mrs. K. M. Troy.

Mrs. Janet Lynch, home service secretary, and Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary. This policy was adopted by the board.

Arsene J. Denoyer, Red Cross field director, Veterans Administration Shreveport, was introduced and gave an interpretation to the board of claims service, explaining the work being done in this community.

Dr. Fred A. Marx, chairman of the blood bank, reported that the Ouachita blood bank had been in operation since June, 1946, and that 336 pints of blood had been drawn and that the cost of this project to the chapter to date had been $738.88, which means a considerable saving to the community if the blood had to be purchased at a minimum of $25 per pint. Dr. Marx stated that securing donors was still a problem and that some of the families using the blood did not either feel or understand the responsibility of replacing in order to keep the bank in operation.

Mrs. Forrest Seaman, Junior Red Cross chairman, reported that four delegates were going to the Cleveland National Convention on June 6. They are "Chuck" Anders, St. Matthew's High School; Betty Ann Cruthirds, Neville High School; Jimmy Padgett, Ouachita Parish High School, and Maxine McKenzie, Ouachita Parish High School. These young people are especially to be commended. As the Junior Red Cross is bearing its own expenses, no money will be taken from the general fund. "Chuck" Anders was selected by area headquarters in Atlanta to appear on the National Forum. His topic is "Organization of The Junior Red Cross Council." This is an honor of which the chapter is very proud.

O. N. McNeil, chairman of first aid and water safety, reported that three classes in first aid had been taught and that Red Cross would have two instructors at the pool during the summer to teach free swimming classes.

In the absence of Mrs. D. L. Niel, nutrition chairman, Mrs. Veazey reported that 78 Junior Red Cross girls of the intermediate age had completed cooking classes of ten lessons which are especially designed for teen-agers. Mrs. Mildred Swift, city demonstration agent, is instructing for this group. Many of these students are Girl Scouts who are earning credit on their home-making badges. The class is open to anyone of intermediate age and the project will be continued throughout the summer months. This has proven to be a very popular project. Due to the limited equipment in the nutrition room, only ten girls can be taught at a time.

Tom Hicks, disaster chairman, reported that in the last three months ten one-family fire disasters and two flood disasters had been aided with a total disbursement of $312.91.

Mrs. Dewitt Milam, chairman of volunteer special services, reported that 400 workers had served 4,000 hours during the last three months.

GOING TO CLEVELAND

She also stated that women were still needed to complete the quota of sewing. The canteen corps is active, making sandwiches bi-monthly for the crippled children's clinic. Nurses aides are active at the blood bank and assisting with crippled children. The knitting corps is working to complete an old quota. Mrs. Milam stated that staff assistants were very badly needed for the volunteer desk in the office.

Mrs. Milam's resignation was read, to be effective June 30. Appreciation for her valuable services to the chapter since 1939 was expressed by the board.

R. M. Troy, chapter chairman, appointed the following nominating committee: E. C. Gibson, Tom Hicks, Ted Allen and Mrs. Milam. Mr. Troy stated that the annual meeting would be held July 9, 1947.

Deep regret was expressed at the passing of two of our valuable board members, Mrs. Harry Black and Mayor D. C. Golson, and resolutions from the board are being sent to each family.

The following board members were present: R. M. Troy, chapter chairman, Ted Allen, Bob Burns, E. R. Dawson, Mrs. F. W. Ashcroft, O. N. McNeil, Siz Masur, Tom Hicks, George Snelling, Jr., James Troustrest Seaman, Dr. Fred Marx, M. E. Dale, Jr., Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Forpickett and Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary.

GIRL SCOUTS TO ENJOY CAMP

Will Start Outings June 17 And Will End On July 3

The Girl Scout day camp will be open June 17 to July 3. Day camp is exactly what the name implies—camping by the day. Any girl from seven to 18 years of age who would like the fun of outdoor living in a lovely woody place, to folk dance in the meadow, to sing around the campfire circle, to stay at camp overnights, to build fires and to cook out-of-doors, learn crafts, see wild flowers, trees and birds, would enjoy Camp Happy Land.

Trained, experienced leaders will serve as counselors. A registered nurse will serve on the camp staff. All sanitation requirements are adequately met. It is recommended that all girls have typhoid shots.

Camp fee will be $1.30. This includes bus fare ($1.00), milk, and craft materials. Campers pay $1.00 registration fee, the remainder of the fee is payable on the first day of camp.

All registrations must be made at Girl Scout office by June 5. Buses will meet children at the Junior College at 9 a. m., Georgia Tucker School at 9:15 a. m., at the courthouse at 9:45 a. m., at Crosley School at 9:50 a. m. Children will return to Crosley at 4:10 p. m., courthouse, 4:20 p. m., to Georgia Tucker at 4:45 p. m., and to Junior College at 4:50 p. m.

What to wear: Cool wash dress or short with shirt, no halters; socks; comfortable shoes.

What to bring: Drinking cup, scout knife (if you have one), nosebag lunch (very important), a blanket or ground covering, a smile.

Milk will be served to all campers—cost is included in fee.

A day at camp:

9:30—Camp opens.

10:30-12:00—Games and singing.

12:30-1:30—Rest hour. Story telling.

1:30-3:00—Unit activities, folk dancing, dramatics, games, gardening.

3:00-3:30—General campfire program.

Unit activities are planned by the girls with their unit leaders. Their program will follow the interest of the girls.

The Girl Scout day camp will not interfere with the Girl Scout swimming program being sponsored by the Girl Scouts and the Red Cross.

The U. S. automobile industry has approved a plan to make all bumpers the same height, thus eliminating in the future the frequent annoyance of locking bumpers with cars in front or in back.

'BEST TEACHER OF 1947' IS SELECTED

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP)—Miss Alene Neal, 46, a fourth grade school teacher at Jackson, Miss., has been named "the best teacher of 1947," in a nation-wide contest conducted among school children, sponsors announced today.

Special recognition awards went to Mrs. Dona V. Cerwin, a teacher in the San Carlos Indian school, San Carlos, Ariz.; Roy Fisher, a high school English teacher, Volens High School, Nashville, Va., and Miss Elsie Lindgren, a high school teacher for physically handicapped children, Delano School, Kansas City, Mo.

More than 33,000 letters were written by school children on "The Teacher Who Has Helped Me Most." The letters were judged and an investigation made before the winning teachers were selected. Miss Neal was recommended by a former pupil, Edgar Nation, Jr., 10, who won a $100 prize for the best letter.

Miss Neal was awarded $2,500 and the Special Recognition winners $500 each in the contest conducted by a radio program (The Quiz Kids).

COUP IS RECOVERED
The State Police Post of Monroe announced yesterday the recovery of a 1935 Buick convertible coup, owned by Fred Rouse of Fayetteville, Ark. The automobile was stolen at Fayetteville May 12. State policemen recovered it in Talleh where it had been abandoned for several days.

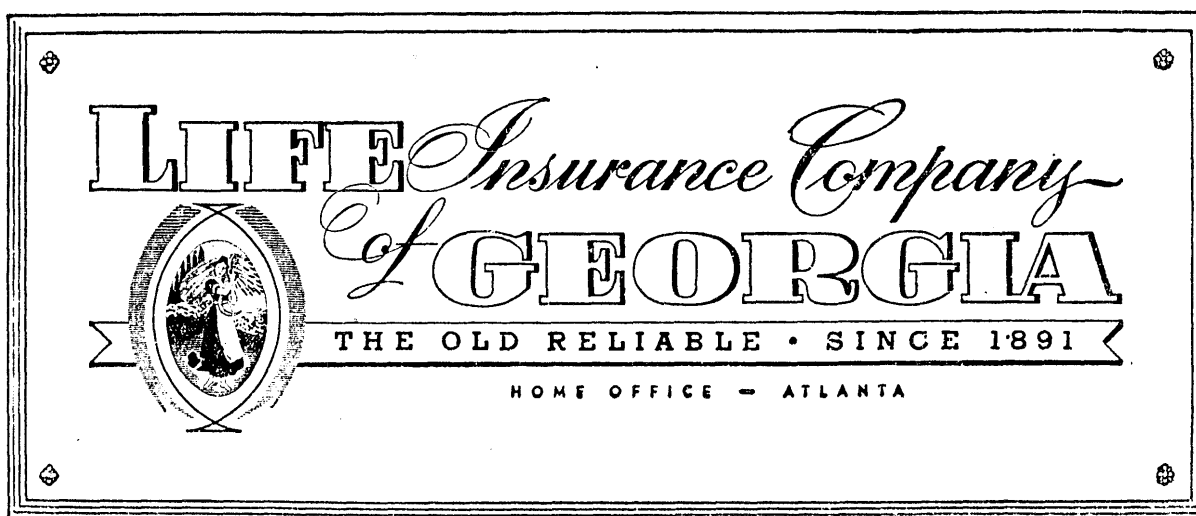

Consumption of canned fruit juices (including pineapple, grape, apple, and others) by civilians is estimated at 15 pounds per capita in 1946.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I wish to announce that effective as of June 1, 1947, I will discontinue my law office at 503 Bernhardt Building, Monroe, and will thereafter be located in the Police Jury Building (formerly the Draft Board office) in Farmville, Louisiana, where I will be permanently located for the general practice of law.

JAMES T. SPENCER

AN OLD ESTABLISHED INSTITUTION TAKES A NEW NAME . . .

. . . for more than half a century known as INDUSTRIAL LIFE AND HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA

OVER the years, the Industrial Life and Health Insurance Company has grown in size and usefulness, serving the needs of millions of people. It is continually growing in service, furnishing security through life insurance of every type—Ordinary as well as Industrial, thus meeting the insurance requirements of all—from the weekly wage earner to the top-ranking executive. The company has long felt the need of a name less restrictive in meaning, since Industrial is only one of several types of life insurance. As the company proceeds with its growth it will remain steadfastly true to the principles which have guided it under the same charter since 1891—making still greater contributions to the strength and security of the South which gave it birth more than half a century ago.

A Message from the President:

IN PRESENTING its 55th annual financial statement, LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF GEORGIA invites your attention to the following interesting facts:

The Company had in force at December 31, 1946, $418,966,261.00 of insurance. Miss Mary E. Brodnax Weds Mr. M. E. Lloyd

Marriage Of Prominence Takes Place At Baptist Church In Bastrop

A wedding of prominence attracting wide-spread interest in northeast Louisiana was that of Miss Mary Evelyn Brodnax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Naff Brodnax of Bastrop, and Mr. Marion Neal Lloyd of Sweetwater, Tenn., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Samuel Lloyd, also of Sweetwater, which was solemnized the evening of May 19 at the First Baptist Church with the Reverend Earl C. Whitsitt officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The church was lighted only by hundreds of tapers placed in tiers against a background of the smilax, fern, Queen Anne's lace and white flowers which completely banked the chancel and choir loft. A huge white satin bow was silhouetted against the greenery.

Preceding the service and while the ushers were lighting the candles, Mrs. J. B. Spier rendered a group of nuptial melodies including "At Dawning," "O Promise Me" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Mrs. Spier also accompanied the soloists, the Rev. C. S. Cadwallader, Jr., of Monroe, who sang Greg's "I Love Thee," and Miss Ann Whitsitt who sang the benediction song, "O Perfect Love" (Burlough). The Rev. Mr. Cadwallader and Miss Whitsitt also sang a duet, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." During the ceremony Miss Spier softly played "Claire de Lune."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white Duchess satin made with a light-fitting bodice featuring a portrait neckline outlined by a deep Chantilly lace ruffle. The long, tight sleeves ended in lily points over the hands. The full skirt repeated the Chantilly ruffles which were caught to the skirt in graceful loops. The lace terminated in a huge white satin bow at the back of the skirt where it was joined to the long sweeping train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was caught to a coronet of braided satin accented with split carnations. She carried a white Bible, the gift of her maternal grandmother. A white orchid rested upon the Bible and from it fell white satin ribbons in shower effect. The bride observed all of the traditions—for "something old" she wore her paternal grandmother's engagement ring and the "penny in her shoe" was placed there by the groom's mother.

The maid of honor, Miss Bettye Jacqueline Beasley, the bridesmaids, Miss Sally Ann Peterson and Miss Virginia Smith, and the flower girl, little Miss Jane Easley Spier, wore period taffeta frocks in pastel colors of pink, orchid, yellow and green with a low neckline accented by a set-in yoke of nylon. A double fold of the taffeta encircled the yoke. The full, flowing floor length skirts were softly draped over the hips and further dramatized with a huge bow forming a simulated bustle at the center back. Braided coronets in matching colors were worn. The bridesmaids and maid of honor carried colonial bouquets of white gladioli tied with contrasting ribbons. The flower girl carried a white basket of painted daisies.

Mr. Lloyd has for his best man, his uncle, Mr. L. A. McMillin of Jonesville and the groomsmen were Doyle Hindman and Edwin Rice. Ushers were Gilbert and James Justice.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Brodnax were the bride and groom, the groom's mother, and members of the wedding party.

Baskets of lilies and gladioli were grouped in the background. Mrs. Brodnax wore a aqua crepe dinner gown, long yellow gloves and a small evening hat of tulle and roses. Her corsage, worn at the waist, was also of tulle and roses.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs.

Mrs. K. D. Lankford, Jr., to the left, is seen with her wedding attendants. They are Miss Elaine Jarmon, maid of honor, Mrs. Doyle E. Durrett and Miss Leone Lankford, bridesmaids. The flower girl is Joanna Rockett.

MRS. DAVID NICOL PRESIDES AT INTERESTING MEETING OF WELCOME GARDEN CLUB

Lloyd, was charmingly attired in a distinctive model of blue. She wore long white gloves and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table was covered with Italian cut work and centered with a three tiered wedding cake placed upon a reflector plaque and elaborately embossed with crystalized roses and lilies of the valley. The cake was surrounded by six candles which served as columns supporting a canopy of tiny white flowers and ruffles of net which were placed bride and groom figurines.

Crystal candelabra also burned at the refreshment table which had for its center a large mirror plaque of swallows.

Mrs. Fred Odum in a lovely black lace gown, presided at the punch bowl. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. J. T. Bilberry and Mrs. F. Esther Smith. Embossed cakes and punch were served to the guests by Miss Joyce Bilberry, Miss Ellen Joyce Burt, Miss Mattie Alice Givens, Miss Beulah Mae Givens, Miss Clara Virginia Cain, Miss Dora Lee Evans, Mrs. Emory Sheridan and Mrs. John T. Smith.

The bride's book was presided over at the reception by Mrs. H. Flood Madison who was charming in a gown of grey lace.

Throughout the reception, Mrs. C. Noble Hatch of Rayville, pianist, and Mrs. Fred M. Perry of Sterling, violinist, played a program of delightful music.

Immediately following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd left on a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with navy straw hat and red bag and shoes. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High school and for the past two years has attended Baylor university at Waco, Texas.

The bridegroom, formerly of Bastrop, attended Northwestern in Chicago and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston.

During the war he was stationed in the Pacific with the U. S. Navy. He was released from service a year ago and is now editor of the Sweetwater Valley News.

The Welcome Garden Club held its first meeting of the club year May 19, at the McGuire club house with Mrs. I. W. Rogers, Mrs. R. B. Henry, Mrs. John P. Lewis, Mrs. W. C. Peazel and Mrs. S. H. Humphries as hostesses.

Mrs. J. R. Coulter assisted by Mrs. J. A. Reid, in a most impressive way, installed the following officers: Mrs. J. A. Reid, president; Mrs. W. A. Smith, first vice-president; Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, second vice-president; Mrs. A. B. Colmer, recording secretary; Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Carey Holmes, treasurer; Mrs. P. Snodgrass, reporter; Mrs. A. R. Butler, parliamentarian; Mrs. H. S. Johnson, historian.

Mrs. J. A. Reid introduced the following new members: Mrs. R. C. Brice, Van Browning, Mrs. A. R. Husky, Mrs. C. C. Westmorland and Mrs. Roy Steele, Mrs. Horace Downs of Shreveport was guest.

The program chairman, Mrs. David Nicol, introduced the program for the afternoon. Mrs. H. A. McDonald opened the program with a poem, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis gave excerpts from the Home Gardening magazine. She concluded by stressing if you do not subscribe to Home Gardening you are missing something. There is always something to learn from a good garden magazine and Home Gardening is our very own and covers only the south.

Mrs. Carey Holmes spoke on "Gardening in the Shade." She said in part:

In every community there are gardens where shade of one sort or another is the element that determines all the development possible. Shade itself is something that has to be considered since there are various degrees of shadiness and various causes for shade. The most solid shade is that which is cast by buildings and if the buildings are tall enough and large enough even the passage of the sun in summer may not allow even an hour or two of sunlight on the earth.

Shade from trees, on the other hand, may be dense as that which comes from maples, for example or broken like that of locust trees, but in either case, the shadow cast by the trees means a different treatment, paying them with flagstones, brick or even gravel and designing an area large enough for use with chairs or benches for sitting.

Potted plants are useful in shaded gardens and vines planted where the roots have sun can be trained into the area where it is shady. A well chosen plant will grow in shade.

The bride-elect wore a beautiful white crepe evening model with corsage of crimson roses. Mrs. Sevier wore a black model trimmed in azure blue. Mrs. W. L. Rountree, mother of the bride-elect, wore a black model trimmed in silver with a corsage of Wedgewood blue iris.

In the candle-lit dining room, Mrs. Maurice Ursey in a pink model and Mrs. Dowell Capshaw in a red and white printed jersey presided. The refreshment table, with its handsome cut work cloth, had as a centerpiece a beautiful arrangement of white roses and daisies, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. White candles in silver candelabra and white flowers were also placed on the buffet and serving tables.

Assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. Horace Lee in pink flowered crepe and Mrs. Lamar Lee in white. Refreshing ice punch and dainty and delicious sandwiches and confections were served.

Seventy guests called during the appointed hours.

Carryover of walnut supplies in the spring of 1947 is estimated at about three times as large as usual—nearly 26 million pounds.

Expecting a Baby?
Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

OF COURSE WOMEN dress for the men in their life. The why women are turning to FINK TAILOR as never before for those crisp, cool little tailors that make them look so chic. Men adore to see women smartly clad and the one way to acquire that smart look is to wear those charming little suits superbly tailored by FINK. You can also have your slacks tailored by FINK . . . they are the smartest things in town. You'll love the genuine comfort derived from slacks made to your exact measurements by FINK.

YOU CAN SIT COMFORTABLY, you can bend, work, and play in a CHARMODE girdle found only at SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. There's no poking, binding, pinching when you wear a CHARMODE, but best of all there are no bulges in the wrong places. They simply disappear the first time you wear one of these miracle garments. A CHARMODE actually redistributes excess flesh so your waist seems inches smaller. Your stomach is flattened and your figure streamlined in flattering manner.

HOUSEHOLD DRUGGERY has become a myth since the LA CASA TEA ROOM opened its doors. A delicious luncheon can be enjoyed almost at a minute's notice. If there's a ring at the telephone and someone you know has just arrived in town, you invariably say "we will have luncheon at the LA CASA. All of the hard work of entertaining at home vanished when hostesses found out how delightful a luncheon at LA CASA can really be. Piping hot rolls, finger-model, crisp salads and luscious pastries are a few of the specialties.

He has been appraising diamonds for years and only the finest are allowed in his shop. THE R & A JEWELRY SHOP is a veritable treasure chest of precious jewels.

GO RIGHT DOWN TO FERGUSON'S completely outfitted if you intend to do much swimming this summer. . . . You can be sure your suit is absolutely correct. If you intend to stay quietly at home this summer, here's another good suggestion. . . . Go right down to FERGUSON'S and stock up on the newest novels. . . . They are all there for your summertime reading. And remember, FERGUSON'S is headquarters for correct stationery, party favors, bridge cards and especially children's books.

JUST THE THING to brighten your spirits is dinner at BAKAL'S beautiful new restaurant where the lights are low, the service perfect and the food simply delicious. If you crave French dishes, then scan the menu . . . you'll find just what you want. If it's seafood you desire, then by all means go to BAKAL'S. It's a specialty of the house. Even the good old American d's . . . ham and eggs has a special flavor when served at BAKAL'S. Don't you just love the cocktail bar in the French Room?

GOOD OLD MEL-O-TOAST bread from the CITY BAKERY; how we do love it when summertime comes and sandwiches taste better than all the heavy food in the world! The demand for MEL-O-TOAST increases daily, so the bakery had to be enlarged. . . . In fact, the CITY BAKERY is always making improvements. . . . The sales room is air-cooled and the baked goods displayed so invitingly. If you want luscious cakes for your bridge party or big, delicious rolls for hamburgers, the CITY BAKERY has them.

Miss Hood Presides At Annual Dinner

Business And Professional Women's Club Meets For Installation Dinner

Miss Maibel Hood, wearing a smart white, light weight wool tulle with wide-brimmed white hat trimmed in black veiling, with characteristic charm presided for the last time as president of the Business and Professional Women's Club when they met for their annual installation dinner at the La Casa Tea Room.

Miss Hood as customary spoke with great sincerity of purpose when she turned the gavel over to the new president, Miss Bessie McDonald. She said: "Greetings club members and guests. To this installation dinner. The wheel of time has turned, a year has passed. It is time to install our new officers. This is a happy occasion as it permits me to tell you how happy I was in serving you as your leader last year. I am happy for you because you will have a new leader who will guide you safely through the months ahead. My only request is that you give your new president the same cooperation you gave me. Remember, knowledge is power and power is respect. With your cooperation, your respect and the magnetic personality of your new president the year ahead will be a wonderful one."

To each of you I do wish success. Each hour is a glorious opportunity. This is the last time I will appear as your president and don't forget the little verse: "Life is made up of little things in which smiles and kindnesses and small obligations are what win and preserve the heart and secure comfort. O Lord let us not forget to be kind."

The dinner table, a symphony of harmonious color, was the handiwork of Miss Hood whose artistry has been responsible for countless beautiful affairs during her regime. The colors pink, blue and orchid predominated in every detail. The flowers, pink sweet peas were arranged in pyramids down the full length of the table with tall blue tapers burning in their midst. Wide orchid colored organza ribbons radiated down the center of the table where small plaques of pink sweet peas were placed at intervals. The pink paper programs in the form of a scroll were tied with orchid ribbons and florally adorned with hand-painted pink roses and blue forget-me-nots. The place cards of pink were also handpainted. Lovely little souvenirs of the occasion, tied with orchid ribbon were presented as gifts from Miss Hood to each guest.

The new officers seated at the speaker's table, all beautifully gowned and wearing lovely corsages, were introduced at this time. They were: president, Miss Bessie McDonald; vice-president, Mrs. Inas G. W. Gwin; treasurer, Miss Ruth Thomas; recording secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lucille Martin. Miss McDonald was a lovely figure on this occasion in a black, lace trimmed sheer with off-the-face hat and corsage of orchids. She accepted the gavel from Miss Hood who said: "Madam President: Here's wishing for you, as I lay down the gavel, great joys in store and many places to travel. May your term be long and as full of pleasure, as mine has been in untold measure, and as you venture along the way, receive full cooperation day by day. Now, I have the honor to present you the gavel and as the days of your office unravel, may much joy and happiness come to you, as you travel this year's journey through."

Miss Emma Wood of Eunice, La., vice-president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's club, was a charming visitor on this occasion. She performed the impressive installation ceremony using flowers as symbols. To each officer she presented a flower from the bouquet she carried and told what each flower signified.

Mrs. Clady Miles, the president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's club gave the invocation. The serving of the delicious four course dinner with fried chicken the piece de resistance, was punctuated with song numbers by Miss Eloise Helm with Miss Mary Humble, organist.

Miss Evelyn Atkinson was privileged to present the BFWC pin to Miss Hood on behalf of the club members. Her remarks, weighted with meaning were a distinct tribute to Miss Hood. She expressed the sentiments of every club member in her glowing tribute. Those present on this interesting occasion were: Mrs. Effie Allen, Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson, Miss Alice Baur, Mrs. Farrah Beasley, Mrs. Nell Bennett, Mrs. Alma Bushnell, Mrs. Earl Coats, Mrs. Clara Dennis and guest, Mrs. Ouida Elder, Mrs. Lena Griffin, Mrs. Fay Heard and sister, Mrs. Eddie Holstead, Miss Maibel Hood, Miss Mary Humble, Miss Eloise Helm, Miss Lucille Jones, Mrs. Emma Keene, Mrs. Krogmire, Mrs. Edna Manley, Mrs. Lucille Mathis, Mrs. Gladys Miles, Miss Bessie McDonald, Miss Mamie Ober, Miss Avril Russ, Mrs. Laura Slater, Mrs. Beulah Thomas, Miss Ruth Thomas, Mrs. Jewel Wise, Mrs. Allen Wright, Mrs. Vera Anish, Miss Eve Bradford, Mrs. Emma Woods, Miss Anita Moxon, Mrs. H. M. Bandy, Mrs. E. Holstead, Miss "Dutch" Martin, Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll.

Marriage In New York Of Interest Here

Announcement has been made of the marriage on May 23 of Miss Isobel R. Voelker, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Frank Voelker, of Lake Providence, to Mr. Richmond Yancy Hathorn, son of Mrs. John Wesley Hathorn, of Alexandria, La., and the late Mr. Hathorn. The ceremony was performed in New York by the Rev. Father Daly, of Corpus Christi Church.

Mrs. Stephen H. Guenard of Lake Providence was matron of honor and Miss Virginia Lee Wilson of Chattanooga, N. J., was bridesmaid. The bridegroom had Mr. Edward Hardy of New Haven, Conn., as his best man, and Mr. Patrick Quinn of New York was usher.

The bride was attired in a pale-green crepe model, a white organza picture hat, and white accessories. She carried lilies of the valley and white gladioli.

Mrs. Hathorn was graduated from the Louisiana State University. Mr. Hathorn received his B. A. from Louisiana College, his M. A. from Louisiana State University, and did graduate work at Columbia University. He is associated with Random House, Publishers, New York.

The tops of young radishes will cook up nicely as a green. You can toss them and use them raw in your tossed salads. Have you tried radishes cooked? When boiled, their flavor is delicate, and it can be enhanced by the addition of a snappy sauce.

FORMER MONROE GIRLS PRESENT DANCE REVUE

Misses Jeanne and Jeune Hunt, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. King Hunt, former residents of West Monroe, presented their dance pupils in recital at the Denham Springs High School. The Misses Hunt, talented danseuses, appeared in several numbers in the costumes as seen in the above picture.

MISS OLALEE JARMON AND KING LANKFORD, JR., UNITED IN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Affectionate interest is centered in the wedding of Miss Olalee Jarmon, daughter of Mrs. Cora Dean Jarmon and the late L. Jay Jarmon of Marion, and Mr. King David Lankford, Jr., of Terre Haute, Indiana, son of Mr. and Mrs. King David Lankford of Haile. The beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed in the First Baptist Church of Marion Saturday evening, May 24th, at 8 o'clock with the Rev. G. C. Dennis of Opelousas officiating.

The church was decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli and maroon daisies, ferns and woodwardia fern flanked by white tapers burning in branched candelabra. A picturesque arch entwined with white gladioli, maroon daisies, and huckleberry was surmounted with a large bow of white satin.

The nuptial music was rendered by Mr. John D. Green, of Farmerville, and Miss Betty Jo Shemp, of Marion. Preceding the ceremony and while the tapers were being lighted by Mary Ann Jarmon of Rayville, cousin of the bride, Mr. Green played Schubert's "Serenade" and "For You." He accompanied Miss Sheppard who sang D'Harlot's "Because" and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. At the close of the ceremony she sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte. Wagner's Bridal Chorus was used for the processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the recessional. "To A Wild Rose" by MacDowell was played softly during the ceremony.

Miss Elaine Jarmon of Vinton, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor; Mrs. Doyle E. Durrett of Baton Rouge and Miss Leone Lankford of Natchitoches, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids and Miss Joanna Rockett of Marion, was the junior bridesmaid. Miss Jarmon wore a white marquisette model over taffeta fashioned with rounded neckline, fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of picardy gladioli and gladioli tied with blue ribbons and maline. The bridesmaids, wearing exact replicas of the maid of honor's dress, carried bouquets of picardy gladioli and gladioli tied with amber ribbons and maline. The junior bridesmaid, wearing a similar model, carried a bouquet of painted daisies. All the attendants wore off-the-face hats trimmed with a horse-hair bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. W. L. Jarmon of Rayville, wore a lovely wedding gown of white satin and net. A row of tiny, soft-covered buttons fastened the close fitting bodice which had a sweetheart neckline. Long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. The bouffant net skirt, appliqued with white satin flowers fell in a long train, and her full length, lace-trimmed, veil of illusion was fastened to a coronet outlined with ruffled net and covered with seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a white satin Bible marked with a white orchid from which fell a spray of stephanotis and white ribbons.

Mr. Blount B. Brazzale of Natchitoches served as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Doyle E. Durrett of Baton Rouge, and Mr. Charles E. Donnell of Vinton, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a black lace trimmed dress of crepe, a hat of blue roses and a corsage of white gladioli. The groom's mother wore a black crepe dress, a lavender flower hat, and a corsage of white gladioli. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. The reception rooms were artistically decorated with white spring flowers and burning white tapers. In the dining room the bride's table, covered with a beautiful cut-work linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations placed on a reflector. The flowers were held together by maline and net and were in the form of a bridal bouquet. On either side tall tapers burned in silver candelsticks. At one end of the table was a three-tiered wedding cake embossed with lilies-of-the-valley and hearts and at the other end the crystal punch bowl. Mrs. Guy M. McDonald served the cake and Mrs. W. L. Jarmon presided at the punch bowl. Assisting in the serving courtesies were Mrs. J. L. Thomas, Mrs. Verna Coburn, Mrs. D. H. Phillips and Miss Betty Jo Sheppard. Mrs. J. C. Rockett was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Lankford left for a wedding trip to an Ozark resort in Missouri. For traveling she chose a beige suit of summer wool, a picture hat of toast straw, brown and white accessories. A white orchid corsage completed her outfit.

Mrs. Lankford graduated from Dodd College in Strevestown, where she was a member of Sigma Iota Chi, social sorority, and Delta Psi Omega, honorary speech fraternity. She received her B. S. degree from Louisiana State University. Mr. Lankford attended Louisiana Tech, University of Texas, and received his degree in geological engineering from New Mexico School of Mines. Having served in the Air Force during World War II in the European theater, he was discharged with the rank of Captain. At present, Mr. Lankford is employed by Commercial Solvent Corporation in Terre Haute, Indiana, where the couple will make their home.

Out-of-town guests who attended this wedding of widespread interest included: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Dean, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Guy McDonald, Mrs. Onie Harrell and Mrs. Nina Carmichael of Bernice; Mrs. John Lee Turnage and Jane Turnage, Mrs. R. A. Wilson, Mrs. Enoch Tucker, Jr., Mrs. Jim Futch, Miss Dawn Futch, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Monzingo, Miss Ruby Monzingo, Miss Jo Ann Monzingo, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Odom, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Revels of Farmerville; Mrs. G. C. Dennis, Oberlin; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Barberousse, Linville; Mrs. J. L. Holmes and Jimmy Dry Prong; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tasson, White Castle; Mrs. J. E. Rooks, New Orleans; Mr. Nolan O. Anders, Levee; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Phillips and Miss Althea Cole, Monroe; Mrs. Verna Coburn and Miss Annie Ray.

Miss Stough Is The Bride Of Mr. Gullidge

Announcement has just been made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Stough of this city of the marriage of their daughter, Jean, to Mr. Herman Gullidge, son of Mrs. J. W. Gullidge and the late Mr. Gullidge also of this city.

The wedding was solemnized on April 18, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lambert, in New Orleans. Mrs. Lambert, sister of the bride, was her only attendant; Mr. Lambert served as best man.

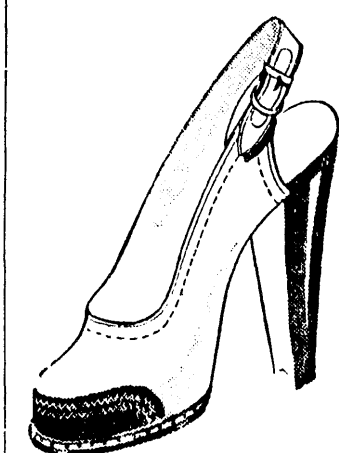

The bride wore a spring model grey suit with cherry cote accessories, and a white orchid corsage. She carried out the old tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a penny in her shoe." The "something new" was a beautiful real-lace handkerchief, a gift of a friend, Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gullidge both attended Ouachita Parish High School. Mr. Gullidge served 33 months in the navy's Yeoman First Class, 17 months of that time being spent in the Pacific. He is now associated with Ouachita Cigar and Tobacco Company.

In a period when railroad terminals in Washington, D. C., handled 120,000 train arrivals and departures, the capital's air terminal handled 180,000 planes, military and civilian.

Feazel-Lacey Nuptials Are Of Interest

An announcement of interest to friends and relatives in the twin cities and Ruston is the marriage of Miss Margaret Feazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Feazel of Ruston, and Mr. Walter L. Lacey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lacey of West Monroe.
The double-ring ceremony was performed at the First Baptist Church in West Monroe, Sunday afternoon, May 25 at two p. m. with Dr. C. E. Aubrey, pastor, officiating before a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The altar being banked with white lilies.
The bride was never more lovely than on her wedding day—wearing a lovely pink spring model with white accessories and corsage of orchids.
Her only attendant was Miss Juanita Bush of Rayville, who was also dressed in a pink spring model with white accessories.
Mr. R. C. Redding served the groom as best man.
Mrs. Lacey was reared in Ruston where she is a graduate of the Ruston High school. After graduation, she came to Monroe where she attended The Monroe Commercial School and is at present employed by KMLB.
Mr. Lacey attended Ouachita Parish High School and served three years with the U. S. Marine Corps. After his discharge, he became employed by the Westside Flower and Gift Shop of West Monroe where he now holds a responsible position.
After their wedding trip the young couple will be at home on South Fifth street in West Monroe.
Use cabbage leaves as nests for diced tart apples combined with an equal quantity of finely shredded cabbage.

BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Danna, whose wedding of recent date, was of interest to a wide circle of friends.

Sherouse P-T. A. Completes Year Of Achievement

The Sherouse P-T. A. concluded the year's activities when the final meeting was held last Wednesday. The main feature of the afternoon's program was the installation ceremony conducted by Mrs. W. S. Vincent, newly elected State president of Parent-Teacher Association, who stated that "Parent-Teacher members must continue to give freely of themselves and must assume a position of leadership in carrying out a program designed to erect viable foundations for the children and youth of America." New officers installed at this time were: President, Mrs. W. O. Webb; Vice-president, Mrs. Herbert Walker; Sec. Mrs. E. W. Lockhart; Treas. Mrs. Louis Turner. In accepting the presidency, Mrs. Webb pledged to accept my task with gratitude and endeavor to perform it faithfully. I ask the sympathetic help of those experienced in the work and continued friendship and cooperation of those who have chosen me to serve them. It is my sincere desire to discharge my new responsibilities so that all children and youth within reach of our influence may benefit richly thereby. May we all work together to this end, truly and tirelessly representing to our community and to the world the immortal ideal upon which the parent teacher organization is formed.

Committee chairman appointed to serve are: Scrapbook, Mrs. Sidney Williams and Mrs. Raymond John; legislation, Mrs. Wade Cotton; room mothers, Mrs. Clyde Nash; recreation, Mrs. R. F. Seiler; magazine, Mrs. C. O. Welch; spiritual education, Mrs. C. L. Dillingham; hospitality, Mrs. Julius Nelson, founders' day, Mrs. W. S. Stevens; membership, Mrs. E. L. Magnon; publicity, Mrs. J. Leon Dennis; safety, Mrs. Jolly summer roundup, Mrs. W. E. Lawson and program, Mrs. Hebert Walker.

In retiring from the presidency, Mrs. Reginald Seiler expressed gratitude to her staff for their assistance during the years of her administration; also to the members for their full cooperation in carrying out the objectives of the organization.
Brief reports of the state P-T. A. convention held in Baton Rouge last month were given by Mr. Vincent, who presided over discussions on juvenile protection and by Mrs. R. F. Seiler, who also participated on the conference program. Among the outstanding speakers heard were Dr. E. B. Norton, deputy commissioner of education, U. S. office of education, Washington, D. C., and Dean Paul Hebert, L. S. U., School of Law, who spoke on the states' educational structure; he urged educators and the lay public to make their views known to the law institute committee for consideration in the new state constitution.
Following the meeting, a friendship hour was enjoyed outdoors on the school lawn. Delicious frosted punch and cakes were served by Mrs. S. E. Holloway and her committee while teachers and parents exchanged views on the talents and problems of their children.

Ferriday

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson left on Saturday to be present at the graduation exercises of their daughter, Marjorie Jones at Stevens College in Carolina. Miss Henderson will return with her parents.
D. and Mrs. Harvey Johnson were hosts at one of the largest and most delightful parties for members of the graduating class, their parents, teachers of the class, school board members and friends at their home on Friday evening. The spacious lawn where the tables were set, made a most colorful picture. Mrs. Johnson's lovely garden was selected among the ones receiving honorable mention by the Ferriday Garden Club this month.

The marriage of Miss Jonnie McCullen and Mr. J. T. Parker was quietly solemnized in Mangham, La., on Friday evening at the Methodist parsonage, with only Mr. and Mrs. B. Osborn of Mangham, La., and Messrs. Bill Latham and B. Bianca of Ferriday, La., attending the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Parker are extremely popular members of the younger set and have a host of friends that extend congratulations for a very happy future. After a brief honeymoon in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast they returned home and are at present with the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Parker until their home is completed.

The National Council of State Garden Clubs awarded the Kellogg medal for civic improvement to the Ferriday Garden Club of Louisiana, for assuming its share of responsibility for the welfare of its community, under most unusual conditions. As the result of a flood the town went under water for more than a month, but sixteen garden-minded women of the town decided to organize and do something about it, not only to repair, but to rebuild morale. With rare intelligence and skill, aided by serious study, they employed every method and means known to garden clubs.

According to Mrs. U. B. Evans, state garden club president, 33 states competed for this Kellogg award, and Ferriday won it. Needless to say, we are all very proud of it. This medal was on display at the Flower Show which was held on May 24 and 25.

Mrs. Bert Bullis arrived on Monday by plane from California, in Monroe, La., after a delightful visit and tour. Mr. Bullis met her to accompany her home.

Marion

Mrs. B. K. Watson, Jr. and son, B. K. 3rd., of New Orleans spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tugwell.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dickerson of Smithville, Tex., and Mrs. Francis Oakley of Austin, Texas were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cole last week.

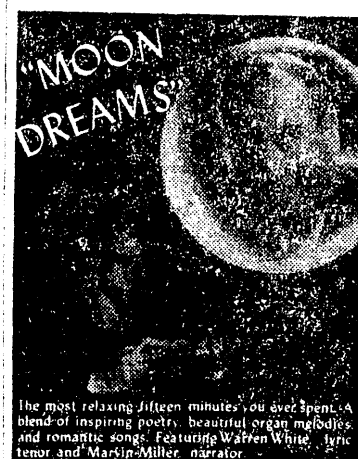

Miss Bobbie Jane Gibson is visiting relatives in Smithville, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Levert and baby of Monroe were the recent guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Maroney.

Miss Aletha Cole of Monroe was at home for the week-end.

SENIORS OF ST. MATTHEW'S ENGAGED IN SELECTING THE NEW OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Before Saint Matthew's closed its doors for the summer its seniors were very busy engaged in choosing successors to fill honored places in their school Sodality.

Outgoing Prefect, Gladden Norris will be replaced by Miss Monica Ann Ritter; Vice-Prefect, Miss Althea Burkett by Tommy Mingledorff; Secretary, Miss Terry Lynn deJaive by Miss Patricia Shoughnessy; Treasurer, Miss Cecile Danna by "Chuck" Anders.

To use new officers and the following chairmen: Miss Patty Burkett, Miss Margaret Faler, Frank Lane, Miss Margaret Ann Alexander, Charles Petrus, Miss Antonette Dispensa, Stanley Hodges, Miss Sara Ritter were installed in a most impressive ceremony in Saint Matthew's Catholic Church. For the first time the parents were privileged to witness the solemn and beautiful installation at which time each pledged their loyalty anew to the Blessed Virgin Mary. She is the Mother, guide and inspiration for this Sodality and whom all Catholic boys and girls hold dear to their hearts.

Immediately following the church service a tea was held in the home of the new prefect, Miss Monica Ann Ritter, for the entire Sodality. Rev. Msgr. J. C. Marsh and Rev. Father Lennon were honored guests. Mrs. Stanley Hodges graciously presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ritter was assisted in extending courtesies by Mrs. Mary Lou Shaugnessy and Mrs. Ted Martin.

The table was serviced exclusively in crystal. The centerpiece, an immense triangle blue and white cake decorated with an exact replica of their pin and the word "congratulations," was a work of art. Daisies and blue cornflowers were used at the base of the punch bowl. Chicken salad sandwiches, candies and olives were served, a most enjoyable evening was experienced by all.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Riley graciously offered their camp on the Ouchita river to the Sodality last week for a most enjoyable outing. All brought baskets and Miss Helen Wilds, outgoing chairman of the Social Life Committee, is to be congratulated for arranging the details. Mrs. Dollie Sweet, Mrs. Leo Ritter, Miss Ann Gehlins and Miss Betty Jane Wilds graciously placed their cars at the disposal of Sodality members.

The Juniors with the aid of their beloved teacher Sister Rita, entertained the Seniors with their traditional communion breakfast last week at the Recreation center. The flowers were exquisite and the food delicious and plentiful. A delightful program, partly planned and partly impromptu made the hours fly. Music, singing and dancing was enjoyed.

Saint Matthew's pleasures climaxed with the annual Junior-Senior banquet and dance. The banquet is sponsored each year by Saint Matthew's P.-T. A. and each year finds it growing in splendor and charm.

With a feeling of great satisfaction over work well done, the doors of St. Matthew's school were closed for the summer.

Members of the Alto Cultural Club were privileged to present a group of talented young people as guest artists at their final meeting of the club year when they met Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Alto Grammar School. A profusion of roses, Queen Anne lace and lilies banked the stage. An especially artistic arrangement centered the tea table. Mrs. John C. Kenton, president, presided and cordially welcomed club members and guests. Mrs. C. Noble Hatch, fine arts chairman for Alto Cultural Club and L. F. W. C. was in charge of the program.

The Gilbert High School girls' choir under the direction of Miss Hermione Driscoll rendered "Learnin' to Write My Name," "Kentucky Babe," "Alice Blue Gown" and "An Old Fashioned Garden." The choir was composed of the following girls: Misses Elaine Ward, Ann Bond, Theresa Martin, Anne Deering, Joy Isgett, Dixie Welch and Nita Faye Glascock.

"Roses of Picardy" baritone solo by Billy Childers, Gilbert High School student.

Chopin's "Polonaise" by Theresa Martin, Gilbert High School student. Adagio by Miss Peggy Ann Lanier and Homer Lowery, Winnsboro, La. Accompanist, Mrs. W. A. McGee.

Hula dance by Mary Cleo McGee of Winnsboro. It is the practice of the Alto Cultural Club to present young people on their programs in the interest of youth conservation. Hearing the lovely young voices and seeing the marvelous adagio by a teen age girl, club members were more determined than ever to give young people an opportunity to develop their talents.

During the social hour frosted frappe and cakes were served by Mrs. John Kenton to the following club members and guests: Mrs. J. A. Ball, Miss Gwendolyn Ball, Miss Pearl LeFevre, Mrs. Lellah H. Lyle, Mrs. B. E. Roberts, Mrs. L. J. Mulhern, Mrs. E. E. Thompson, Mrs. C. Noble Hatch, Mrs. L. G. Bledsoe, Mrs. W. T. Sartor, Sr., Mrs. J. M. Sartor, Mrs. H. C. Driscoll, Mrs. Gene Spiers, Rayville, Mrs. B. T. Lanier, Peggy Ann Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lowery, Mrs. W. A. McGee and Mary Cleo Lanier, Winnsboro; Misses Hermione Driscoll, Blanche Ward, Ann Bond, Theresa Martin, Ann Deering, Joy Isgett, Dixie Welch, Nita Faye Glascock and Billy Childers, of Gilbert.

The decorating committee was composed of Mrs. B. E. Roberts, Mrs. L. J. Mulhern, Mrs. J. A. Ball and Mrs. E. E. Thompson.

The refreshment committee was Mrs. L. R. Hemier and Miss Pearl LeFevre.

MRS. LOUIS N. BERNHARD

Mrs. Bernhard, bride of recent date, is the former Miss Betty Jane Noland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Noland, of this city. The wedding was an interesting event of May 17. Mr. Bernhard is the son of Mrs. Ann Bernhard.

LITTLE THEATRE AWARDS FOR OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCES PRESENTED AT SUPPER PARTY

If the Monroe Little Theatre ever dies it will not be by its own hand. It keeps rolling along and shows no inclination of dying even though a home has not yet been provided for the new season that generally starts in September.

The liveliness of the Monroe Little Theatre steadily increases as manifested last week when awards were made for the best performances of the year. The occasion was a gala one and took place at the Rainbow Inn where a buffet supper was served.

The long buffet table in the Empire room was beautifully appointed and florally adorned with a pyramid of American Beauty roses. Silver trays held a luscious assortment of cold sliced turkey and ham, congealed salads, and all the other edibles associated with a buffet supper. The guests served themselves and then occupied cardlet tables in the ball room where supper was enjoyed to the accompaniment of the Rainbow Inn orchestra.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the awards. It was accomplished by votes and resulted in Mrs. Elizabeth Whitefield receiving the award for the best actress and Bid Causey for the best actor. Dick Troy, Jr., received the award for the best supporting actor and Jerry Juneman for the best supporting actress. Other awards went to Vaughan Payne for set designing and to Thomas Serwiche for the most active worker.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brogan, Bid Causey, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitefield, Fred Fudickar, Miss Dixie Madden, Bert Bernheim, James MacBeth, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Keller, Miss Dorothy Graves, Kent Breard, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Payne, Mrs. Maud Mayo, Paul Duet, Miss Carrie Mae Stevenson, Dick Troy, Jr., Francis Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Troy, H. M. Butler, Joy Anthony, Miss Vettey Bernhardt, Joe Saragusa, Ken Jackson, Gene Ledeker, Miss Cornelia McHenry, Mrs. Raymond Watson, Miss Margaret Watson, Larry Bennett, Mrs. Nell Grigsby, Miss Maxine Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Martin, Joe B. Smith, Miss Annie Sue Miller, Henry Floersheim, Miss Jerry Juneman, James Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haas, Jr., Durwood Griffin, Miss Margaret Turner, Miss Ann Wilson, Miss Kay Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Inabnet, Mrs. Judy Caraway.

Lake Providence

Boy Scout members to camp at Bear Lake, Tallulah, under the leadership of J. W. "Red" Gilbert were John Charles Gilbert, Max Smilow, Don Hull, Billy Johnson, Kinkade Key, Billy Jack Murray, Leon Harb'n, Jr., Buddy Barnett, Tom Reese, Hutson, Buddy Cook, Curtis Matlock.

Mrs. W. B. R. Mitchell, Transylvania, and sister Mrs. Flora E. Bowers, Tallulah, were complimented at a birthday party, May 14, as both were born on that date. Mrs. Jimmy Garrett, daughter of Mrs. Mitchell, was hostess for the party. The birthday cake was a square confection, iced in white, with sixteen pink candles at each end. The cake, when sliced, was served with ice cream. Guests for the happy occasion were Mrs. T. P. Kell, Mrs. George Webb, Miss Cornelia Webb, Miss Flora Montgomery, all of Tallulah, Mrs. John Maxwell and son Jackie, Mrs. Stanley Maxwell and daughter Frances, all of "Canebrake" plantation, Mrs. Barry Mitchell and daughter Marcia Lynn of Lake Providence.

Mrs. Catherine H. Richards and Bernard "Bootsie" Rosenzweig returned to Marion, Ala., Sunday to bring home their daughter and sister, Joan Richards and Jennie Rosenzweig, who had attended Judson the past school year.

Purely Personals

We are all at heart nomads when the month of June arrives. The lure of far places and strange sights holds an urgent appeal for almost everyone. Until recent years only the very rich could afford a trip to a foreign land, hear the intriguing chatter of a foreign tongue and revel in the midst of bizarre surroundings. All this has been changed however and today it is both easy and inexpensive to visit a country that is totally different from the conventional. There are now Elysian fields in a romantic atmosphere that can be enjoyed by "The Butcher, The Baker, and the Candlestick Maker."

There was a time, not so far distant, when the paterfamilias looked over his spectacles at his womenfolks and delivered a lecture on femininity if they dared suggest leaving the home without a man to protect and safeguard them. Women did not travel alone in those days. The head of the house never dreamed the day would come when women would be driving their own automobiles from one end of the country to the other. Dauntless and unafraid the modern woman plans her vacation without the aid of the sterner sex. She is quite capable of taking care of herself. Women's rights has changed the old order of things.

Two Monroe school teachers, Miss Harriet Boyle and Miss Carrie Dee Drew have succumbed to the lure of far places and are looking forward to long, lazy days at sea on board a freighter bound for South America. A voyage of this kind is the dream of most people but few are fortunate enough to have their dreams come true.

Another voyager is Mr. T. Malouf who is returning to his native land in the far east after an absence of thirty-three years. He is sailing back to his homeland, Zahleh, Lebanon, and will remain with his kindfolks for one year. While in the far east he will be privileged to drive his own car as he is taking it with him across the ocean. He purchased a new automobile before leaving Monroe and motored to New York where he will board his steamer. Mr. Malouf is now a naturalized citizen. He came to Monroe when he was fifteen years old—that was in 1914—and has been residing here ever since. He makes his home at the Frances Hotel and is engaged in the oriental rug and linen business.

Mr. Malouf's kindfolks are anxiously awaiting his arrival after an absence of 33 years. They are also avid for news of America—the land of promise. Mr. Malouf is indeed fortunate to be able to return to his homeland under such ideal circumstances. He is looking forward with an anticipatory thrill to the ocean voyage and the privilege of motoring in his own car to all the old familiar scenes of boyhood.

Mrs. V. M. Mahr of this city and Mrs. Reggie Sneed of Shreveport are off today for Canada where they will enjoy a visit before leaving for New York City and Washington. It sounds like a fascinating vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hyle, vagabonds at heart, are motoring in the West today. They plan to motor through the Yosemite Valley and visit the Grand Canyon. A month or more will be spent in California.

On June 6 Mrs. Wesley Sanders accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Whitefield will be off via the automobile route for California. They will visit in Denver, Colorado enroute.

Miss Billie Frances Blazier arrived home last week from Northwestern State college, Natchitoches. She will be present at the marriage of her cousin, Mr. J. G. Bailey today.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Slavant issued invitations to members of St. Matthew's high school senior class to be present at their open house last Friday night. The affair was in honor of their son who was a member of the class.

Mrs. S. E. Free and Mrs. C. M. Neils and son Jose have just returned from an extensive motor tour of the West including a three week visit in Phoenix, Ariz., where they attended the world famous rodeo. They also visited in Casa Grande and in Juarez, New Mexico. A visit to the Carlsbad cavern was also of interest.

Milling Bernstein Jr., was a member of this year's graduating class at Louisiana Tech with a B. S. degree in chemical engineering. His record has been a splendid one and many honors were conferred upon him during the past year. His name appeared in the "Who's Who" of colleges and universities.

Miss Ann Sartain will arrive home from Kansas City to visit her mother, Mrs. O. P. Slack. Mrs. Hibbard will be remembered as the former Miss Patsy Slack.

Mr. F. K. Ham has been removed from the Vaughan-Wright-Bondel clinic to his home, 412 Pine street and will be glad to have his friends call.

Mrs. Don Hibbard arrived Saturday from Kansas City to visit her mother, Mrs. O. P. Slack. Mrs. Hibbard will be remembered as the former Miss Patsy Slack.

Miss Constance Sue Spatafora was a member of this year's graduating class of Loyola university, New Orleans. She obtained her bachelor of science degree in Medical technology.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Devereux announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Lt. Uvalde Stoermer. The wedding will take place at St. Matthew's Church June 28, at 11:00 a. m. Friends are invited through this medium.

Miss Spatafora appeared in the play produced by the Medical Technology club for the benefit of the scholarship fund before leaving for Tampa, Florida to attend a house party in the home of a sorority sister. She is a member of Lambda Sigma service sorority and served as secretary for Theta Beta National Honorary Biology fraternity. She is also a member of the Medical Technology club.

Young Musicians Presented In Piano Recital

The stage at Georgia Tucker School was banked with beautiful flowers for the piano recital when Mrs. Thelma Oseland presented her piano pupils in recital. A most appreciative audience applauded the work of the young musicians who gave a most remarkable exhibition of their "fill.

The One-and-Only BENDIX!
... and we're Delighted to Demonstrate!

YOU'LL enjoy seeing this marvelous new BENDIX as much as we enjoy showing it. It's truly a washday miracle. Be our guest! Come in today if you can. See how it washes, rinses, damp-dries—even cleans and empties itself and shuts off—all automatically. Note that you can do an entire washing—and never even wet a finger. It will astonish you, and you'll surely want a new BENDIX for yourself. So, please—we urge you—come quickly and make sure of getting your BENDIX SOON.

What you do: put in clothes, set a dial, add soap.

What the BENDIX does: fills itself, tumbles clothes clean, thoroughly tumble rinses, dries clothes ready for the line or dryer, cleans and empties itself, and shuts off—all automatically! The Bendix takes only 4 square feet of floor space—fits perfectly in kitchen, bathroom, utility room or laundry.

EXCLUSIVE TUMBLE ACTION: tumbles clothes through suds 60 times a minute, yet so gently that even fine fabrics launder beautifully.

MRS. EVELYN ATKINSON IS SPEAKER AT INSTALLATION DINNER FOR CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson said a distinct tribute to Miss Maibel Hood, retiring president of the Business and Professional Women's club when she presented her with the past president's emblem guard at the installation dinner at the La Casa tea room last Sunday.

Mrs. Atkinson voiced the sentiments of every member of the club when she gave the following address:

"To the person who remains closely identified with the Business and Professional Women's Club, nice things are always happening—little pleasures all along the way. Today I have one of the rarer, and therefore more deeply appreciated and sincerely prized, privileges, in being chosen to represent the club in bestowing honor where honor is due.

It has been said that the history of a nation is the history of its leaders. This statement is based upon two propositions, first, that a leader is responsible for conditions within the scope of his authority, and second, that a leader is the product of conditions. We will not stop to argue these propositions, for both are true; and they are mentioned at this time merely to emphasize the fact that the principle of mutual responsibility and cooperation, and shared loyalties, is unchanging, and works as unerringly today in the affairs of this club, as it did in the days of the ancient empires. It is true that the president has overall responsibility; but the members have an equal responsibility, first in the selection of their leader as one qualified for the position, and further in giving the whole-hearted support and cooperation without which a leader can achieve a successful administration.

The Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club has had a number of presidents, only two of whom, Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Miles, could be present today. These various presidents have had to borrow St. Paul's description of members of the early church "gifts differing." Their skills and abilities have been varied, but each one made her own distinct contribution toward the progress of the club. The one who is laying down the gavel today has also made a contribution for which she will long be remembered. We, as business women whose employment and occupations are carried on in the same surroundings day after day, with more or less monotony and little opportunity for enjoyment of esthetic pleasures, are especially indebted to Maibel for the beauty that she has brought to our meetings as demonstrated by this lovely program which she skillfully planned. I think that things such as this have been her outstanding gift to the club, and we know that she has spared no effort to give of her best. We shall always be sincerely appreciative. In presenting to our retiring president the emblem guard, we sincerely hope that it will not only safeguard the emblem against loss, but that it will also serve as a reminder of many happy and rewarding experiences during the year of her office.

BEAUTIFULLY APPOINTED TEA IS GIVEN BY ALTO CULTURAL CLUB FOR LOVELY BRIDE-ELECT

On May 21, the lounge of the Alto Cultural Club was the scene of an attractive tea-shower given by Mrs. E. E. Thompson, Mrs. D. R. Sartor, Mrs. L. H. Hemler, Mrs. B. E. Roberts, Mrs. J. J. Mulhern and Mrs. W. T. Sartor Jr. for Miss Gwendolyn Ball who, on June first will become the bride of Mr. Charles Eugene Vaughn Jr., of Mer Rouge and Monroe.

The club rooms were floridly adorned with larkspurs, lilies, daisies, Queen Anne's lace and iris overflowing from garden baskets.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Hemler and Mrs. Thompson, wearing black sheer models with corsages of blue iris. Mrs. J. A. Ball, mother of the bride-elect wore a gown of pink mesh with a corsage of majestic daisies; Mrs. C. E. Vaughn, mother of the groom-elect wore navy blue with a corsage of anemones. Miss Ball wore a yellow and white mesh with a corsage of daisies and sweet heart roses.

Mrs. Dan Boies McKay, wearing a lace trimmed black sheer with a corsage of sweet peas in pastel shades.

FIVE BEAUTIFUL CONTESTANTS FOR QUEEN OF WATER CARNIVAL

A gala event to be associated in the future with the month of June in Monroe will take place next Saturday when the first annual Louisiana Water Carnival will be staged by the Monroe and West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce. The selection of a queen to preside over the festivities is now engaging the interest of the public generally. There are nine beautiful contestants to date and all are qualified in every way to rule over this aquatic event and over the ball Saturday night. The five contestants for queen shown above are, reading from left to right: Miss Juanita Dickerson, sponsored by Neville High School; Miss Margaret Watson, sponsored by Northeast Junior College; Miss Nelda Monroe, sponsored by Monroe Kiwanis Club; Miss Rose Marie West, sponsored by Northeast Junior College, and Miss Suzanne Phebus, sponsored by Welcome Branch Book Club.

GIRL RESERVES PLAN OUTINGS

Chemin-au-haut, Week - End Camps, Swimming Are Visioned

Lots of fun is in store for Monroe girls.

The beginning of vacation brings the prospect of many happy days for the Y-Teens (formerly Girl Reserves) of the Y. W. C. A. and their friends. Miss Bess Sharp, executive director, says that the green light is on for immediate classes in bowling, swimming and tennis, as well as for special interest groups and weekly informal co-ed get-togethers.

A week-end camp at Chemin-au-haut will inaugurate these summer activities. Hiking, folk dancing, softball, singing and stories around the camp fire will lure many girls to this beautiful spot June 6-8.

Red Cross instructors will meet those interested in swimming at the pool on Monday June 9 at 5 p. m. Both Y-Teens and Girl Scouts will take advantage of these classes. Instruction for advanced swimming as well as for beginners will be given. Miss Sharp will be on hand at the bowling alley for all classes in this sport. The first will be Tuesday, June 10 at 10 a. m. Lots of fun!

Through cooperation with Monroe Recreation Center, Miss Jean Tucker has been secured as instructor in tennis for Y-Teens and Girl Scouts. Her first class will be in Forsythe Park later on. Other tennis classes will be organized at the parish school as well as at Buckhall Field, if requested.

The Girl Scouts have invited Y-Teens to join with them in group singing twice a month. The first of these occasions is to be on Saturday, June 14 from 1 to 3 p. m., at the K. P. Hall on St. John street.

Y-Teen clubs have already manifested interest in writing poetry just for the fun of it. They are fortunate to have Mrs. J. R. White, a recognized poet, as a guide in this project. She also will help with the interpretive reading of poetry.

The lovely new record player with a large variety of records is the inspiration for co-ed open house two evenings each week from 7:30 to 10 o'clock. Young people, fifteen to eighteen years of age, will rather on Thursday nights and one twelve to fourteen on Friday nights. Informal games, dancing, singing and general good times are anticipated.

Clip the following program as a reminder of the dates of all these activities:
Week-end camping trip, June 6-8.
Y-Teens.
Camp to be held at State Park, Chemin-au-haut (Bassett).
Cost: $2.00 food; $2.00 camp fee; $1.00 transportation.
A health certificate is necessary, too.

If you plan to go to camp, come by the "Y" to register not later than June 1. Camp can only accommodate a certain number so the first girls to register will be the ones to go!

Swimming, Monday, June 9, 5 p. m., at pool. For beginners or for advanced swimmers, Girl Scouts and Y-Teens.
Bowling, Tuesday, June 10, 10:00 a. m., at bowling alley. An instructor will be provided for bowling classes in the morning. Cost: T. A. cents a game.

Tennis, at Forsythe Park.
Singing, begins Saturday, June 14, 1 to 3 p. m., at K. P. Hall. This is in cooperation with the Girl Scouts, twice a month.
Creative writing, June 11, Wednesday, 10:30 a. m., at the "Y." Writing just for the fun of it! Creative writing and "how to read" poetry.
Open house at the "Y," 1:30 to 10:00 p. m., starting June 5, Thursday night, 12-18 years of age; Friday night, 12-14 years of age.

If you are interested in any of these activities, come by the "Y," 1515 Jackson street or telephone No. 4412. If there is some other activity in which you are interested such as ballroom dancing, dramatics, sewing, cooking, etc., let us know about it.

MARTIN TEMPLE CLOSING SCHOOL

Martin Temple's colored kindergarten will close its term with a sermon delivered at the temple this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

There will be a play given on Monday night and the graduating exercises will be held on Tuesday night.

Marie Penn, in charge of the work, states that white friends have been most loyal and she invites them and others interested to attend the exercises and see what progress has been made.

In a shampoo after a permanent wave, if witch hazel is used before combing out the hair, it will help set the wave and assist in quicker drying of the hair.

WILL APPEAR IN LITTLE THEATRE PLAY

Dee Stanley and Evelyn Kennedy Reinsmith, talented young dramatists have been prominently cast in the Little Theatre melodrama, "The Drunkard," to be presented at the Rainbow Inn on Monday and Tuesday nights.

MRS. BRICE IS HOSTESS TO MONROE LITERARY CLUB AT LAST MEETING OF YEAR

Mrs. R. C. Brice extended the hospitality of her lovely new home on Forsythe avenue to members of the Monroe Literary club when they met for the last time this season. The co-hostesses were Mrs. P. E. Massey and Mrs. J. E. Shannon.

Beautiful flowers from the gardens of the hostesses created a colorful setting for the guests seated in the living room where the afternoon's program was presented with Mrs. S. E. Morris presiding. Two new members, Mrs. Ivy Jordan and Mrs. Spoford Whitaker were welcomed at this time.

Mrs. C. D. McAdams read the Club Collect, followed by a roll call and the reading of minutes. At this time the club made its contribution to the Cancer fund.

Mrs. Guy DuPriest, Program Chairman, introduced Mrs. W. T. Ellis, who gave a charming poem by Edgar Guest called "Boys".

Mrs. P. E. Massey, a past-president of the Monroe Literary Club, and a charter member, installed the following officers for next year: President, Mrs. J. R. Roark; Vice President, Mrs. C. D. McAdams; Recording Sec'y, Mrs. S. E. Holloway; Corresponding Sec'y, Mrs. A. B. Colmer; Treasurer, Mrs. S. E. Morris; Parliamentarian, Mrs. R. C. Brice; Reporter, Mrs. Guy DuPriest; Historian, Mrs. Z. T. Stone.

Plans for next year's activities were discussed, and Mrs. Ben Parnell distributed the new year books.

Delicious strawberry shortcake and tea was served to Mrs. Julius Chandler, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. Guy DuPriest, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. Victor Weber, Mrs. Z. T. Stone, Mrs. J. F. Stone, Mrs. S. E. Choate, Mrs. W. T. Ellis, Mrs. S. E. Holloway, Mrs. R. M. Kettinger, Mrs. C. D. McAdams, Mrs. Ben Parnell, Mrs. J. E. Shannon, Mrs. J. W. Womack, Mrs. J. A. Bailey.

nastics involved in coining a radio wisecrack.

Ring lardner could capture the feel and flavor of American talk, but he bent it sometimes into satire. Ernie has the same gift without bitterness. He worked hard. There was much labor behind each of his seemingly effortless war columns. I watched him many times rewrite them twice over, weeding out the blank-sounding words, putting in the words that were the echoes of his own heart.

One sample of his gift of simple imagery: Writing of his mother's deep interest in her own community and the welfare of old neighbors, he said: "I believe Hitler and Japan meant no more to her than the noise of a passing truck."

Publication of "Home Country" makes permanently available now the choicest writing of his pre-war years. It is in itself a kind of autobiography, but there still remains to be written the real life history of Ernie, his inner troubles and his outer victories. That will close the story on this pill-swallowing little man, beloved to many, who was himself greatness in capsule.

SYRACUSE ORDER TO MEET TUESDAY

A regular meeting of the Princes of Syracuse will be held Tuesday, June 3, 1947 at 8 p. m. All princes and associate members, especially those who have not been obligated, are urged to attend.

This is a very important meeting as all committees are to be appointed and other important business discussed. This meeting is important for all the future plans for the summer activities of the Palace are to be mapped out.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—(AP)—The man who has written some of the best books of our time never deliberately wrote a book in his life.

And he proved something—that a man doesn't have to haul off in an ivory tower to create literature. He can do it under the day to day stress of turning out a daily piece for the newspapers, which tomorrow a housewife may use to line a pantry shelf.

I mean Ernie Pyle. As his fame as war reporter rose in the early days of the African war, Ernie was subjected to many profitable offers from publishers who wanted him to write a book. His answers were always the same: "It takes everything I've got to go on doing what I am."

What he was doing was simply writing the greatest kind of soldier's life in war time in history. Eventually this became apparent, and this daily material was gathered into a series of books that will stand as the classic eye witness account of the second war.

These books made the little man with the half-pint body and the giant heart a national hero, because he somehow symbolized the American fear and hatred of war and yet also the American character to go on and finish the task. The books also made him famous, embarrassed and rich—wealth he never cared for nor lived to spend.

But before Ernie became the spokesman of the American soldier at war he was the quiet chronicler of America at peace.

For five years before the war he traveled about the states, writing about the oddities and virtues of the country and people he loved, building an ever widening loyal audience.

This material has been collected into a new book—"Home Country"—and it holds the heart of the real Ernie Pyle, a happy traveler looking forward each morning to a new adventure. It is Ernie before war and personal sorrow had taken the zest from him.

"I hope some day you people will publish the book of mine that I like best myself," he once told a publishing firm. "That's the book with all the stuff I wrote before the war, the book about my own country, about home."

WRIGHTS VISIT IN GUATEMALA

Physician And Wife Tell Of Experiences; Made Trip By Plane

Dr. and Mrs. George W. Wright have just returned from a delightful vacation of two weeks which they spent in Guatemala, where they flew by plane from New Orleans and which consumed six hours flying time. They found Guatemala City a model of cleanliness and beauty.

The doctor said he threw out a cigaret butt into the street and an instant later felt he had committed a crime for no one else did likewise. The air was cool for the city is 5,000 feet above sea level. The visitors, after a careful study of the capital city, went up into the mountains 7,500 feet high and there saw Indians living on the shores of a lake of volcanic origin, in similar manner to what was customary with Indians in the present United States when white men first settled this country.

The Wrights had desired to visit Colombia but were informed that a revolution was about to break loose there and that they must not enter.

COLUMBIA MAN JAILED AFTER WRECKING TRUCK

P. E. Zeagler, 22, of Columbia, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving at 12:30 a. m. Saturday after his truck had sideswiped a parked car, struck a tree and jammed against a telephone pole in front of 2717 South Grand street.

Taken to the police station by Officers McBride and Standard, Zeagler posted $150 cash bond for his appearance in city court Monday afternoon.

TALLULAH SCHOOL
HOLDS EXERCISES

'World Citizenship' Is Theme Of Program; Awards Are Presented

TALLULAH, May 31.—(Special)—Commencement exercises for the 1947 graduating class were held at the high school auditorium here Thursday night. The theme of the program was "World Citizenship."

Following the processional to music of "Coronation March" by the school band, the invocation was given by the Rev. Earl Montgomery.

The salutatory address was given by Sylvia Cosse and the valedictory address by Anna Smith Heath.

Jesse Lee Lott made the presentation of the class book to the junior class and the presentation of the seniors' gift to the school, a moving picture screen.

The home economics scholarship was presented to Hazel McKinney by Jeanne Kahn, president of the local club. R. L. Moncrief, principal, presented the awards.

The D. A. R. citizenship went to Jesse Lee Lott and Carl Lee Hancock of the senior class. Joy Massey of the freshmen and sophomore class and Betty Jean Hawkins of the seventh and eighth grade.

Joan Ezell of the Mounds School received the D. A. R. award for the highest percentage of votes in the schools of the parish outside of Tallulah. Winners of the American Legion award were Ann Antley and Carl Lee Hancock. English medals went to Ann Antley of the senior class and Gene Wallace of the junior class, who also received the state music award for the best baton twirling, and Margaret Everett for freshmen English.

Carl Lee Hancock also received an award as editor of the school paper, The Trojan, and the honorary science award.

Scholarships were presented as follows: Jesse Lee Lott, Southeastern; Anna Smith Heath, L. S. U.; Jimmie Smith, Louisiana Tech; Sylvia Cosse, Centenary; and Jeanne Kahn, Northwestern State.

Superintendent J. R. Linton presented diplomas to the following graduates: Anna Smith Heath, Sylvia Cosse, Ann Antley, Charles Ratcliff, Chang Yow Lim, Milton Vernon Sargent, James Grey Traxler, Noel Hill Wilkins, Jr., Wilburn Gerald Ezell, Carl Lee Hancock, Joseph Douglas Halbach, Jr., Joseph Cohen Holley, Clio Williamson Jr., Marion Cline Elledge, Richard Kelly Jr., Betty Jane Dahlhauser, Jesse Lee Lott, Nancy Carroll Wood, Ramona Wilson, Mavis Anita Smith, Bobbie Lou Tweedie, Elizabeth Guthrie Benjamin, Patsy Pruitt, Ruby Nell Ezell, Grace Jeanne Kuhn, Margaret Luvinia West, Dorothy Belle Darnell, Bety Jane Harrop, Jimmie Reed Smith, Mildred Givens, Hazel Muriel McKinney, Carol Jean Russell, Margie Lee Frazier, and Lila Janice Farr.

Mr. Hollis leaves his wife, Mrs. Lovie Moore Hollis; a son, Don; a daughter, Kay Frances; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hollis, and several brothers and sisters.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Barring an unforeseen eleventh hour reprieve, Hungary shortly will have joined the list of Sovietized countries behind the "iron curtain" as the result of what non-Communist circles in Budapest describe as a Red coup d'etat that has substituted Communist rule for what was trying to be a democracy.

Thus, with a brief intermission, the land of the Magyars bids fair to pass under totalitarian rule again, for it was only with the close of the war that Hungary escaped the clutches of Hitler's totalitarian Nazi regime. By the time of the Munich conference in 1938 the German fuchrer had established a firm grip on Hungary, as I found during a European tour just after that, and he hung on until his own citadel was tottering under the Allied onslaught.

So the Hungarians got rid of Hitler, but those who were opposed to Communism felt that they had jumped from the frying pan into the fire, for it was the Russians who occupied the country. This wasn't Hungary's first close contact with Communism, for back in 1919 it had experienced the terrors of the Bolshevik revolution under leadership of the notorious Bela Kun when there were wholesale executions before the Reds finally were downed.

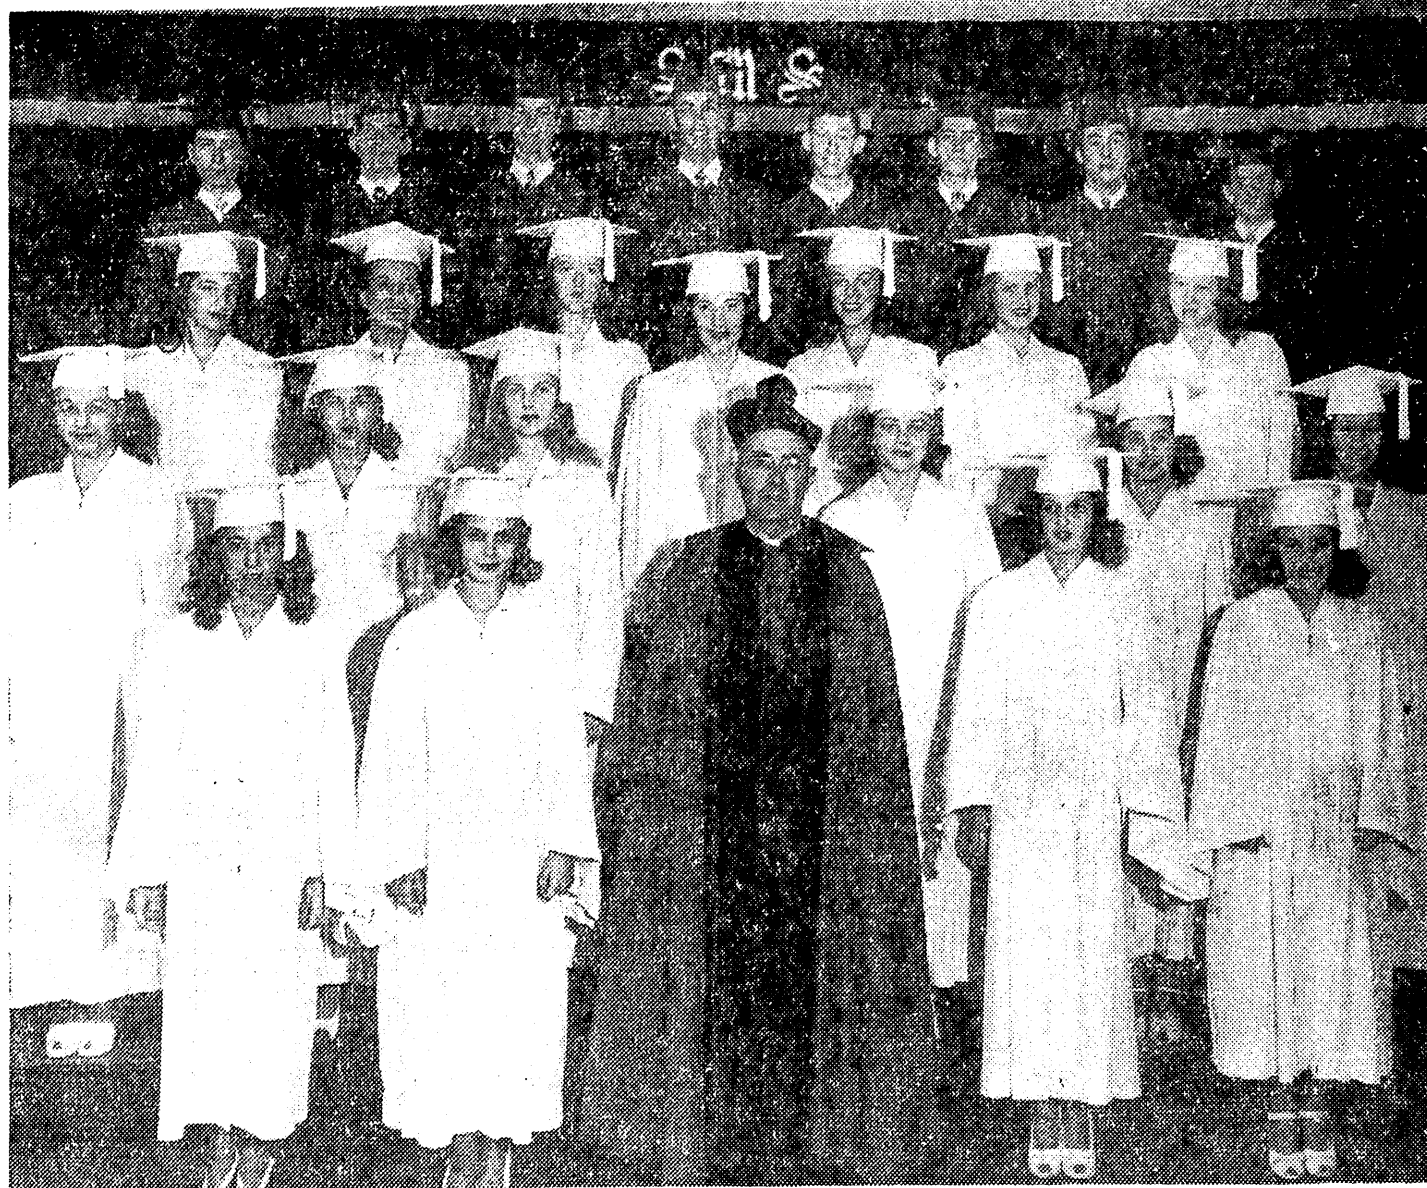

Right from the start of the occupation after the late war the Communists naturally undertook to secure the establishment of a Soviet regime. However, in a general election the Democratic smallholders' (that is, landholders) party won by a handsome majority, and a coalition government was established. Ferenc Nagy, leader of the party became premier and during 17 months of office (which brings us up to the present) fought for moderate conservatism. In this he was met with heavy opposition by the Communist minority.

Now comes the climax. Premier Nagy recently went to Switzerland "on vacation." Yesterday the Budapest government announced that he had resigned in Switzerland, and a high Hungarian informant said he had been "pushed from office" in a Communist coup. Actually Nagy apparently had resigned the day before, but the news had been withheld in Budapest.

Nagy, according to a non-Communist source, in the Hungarian capital, had been accused by the Russians with being mixed up in a plot to arrest "Hungarian democracy." This accusation is said to have been based on a deposition by Bela Kovacs, former secretary general of Nagy's party, who had been arrested by the Russians February 26. Kovacs' arrested Washington to send a note to the Soviet military authorities in Hungary, declaring that the Communists were trying to seize power.

In Washington, Russia's renewed charges of plotting against Nagy were viewed as part of a Soviet attempt to clinch Communist control of Hungary before the Red troops withdraw.

Hungary's bitter political odyssey since the war is similar to that of other countries which have been occupied by Soviet troops. Hungary, being strategically located astride the Danube at the gateway between central Europe and the Balkans, is of course one of the states which Russia is most anxious to have within the Soviet zone of domination. Possession being nine points of the law, Hungary's chances of escape don't look too good right now.

TEACHERS HOLD
DISTRICT MEET

Program Is Made Up Of Reports, Plans And Discussions

The monthly meeting of the 5th District Classroom Teachers Association Council was held yesterday at 10 a. m. in the educational building of the First Baptist Church, Monroe.

The meeting was open to all members of the association and splendid reports, plans, and discussions made up the program. President D. W. Griffith presided and Miss Sue Stinson, secretary, performed secretarial duties.

Miss Eloise Cann, state president of Louisiana Classroom Teachers Association, made a report on the summer workshop to be held at Louisiana State University in July.

This workshop is to deal with long-term school planning for Louisiana schools, including 1948 legislative plans.

The Louisiana State University has given six scholarships of $25 each, for the workshop, to the Louisiana Classroom Teachers Association. Miss Cann suggested that these be awarded in different districts as each district desired. The fifth district voted its scholarship to Mrs. Elnora McClendon Crosley School, who has just completed a year as president of the Ouachita Parish Classroom Teachers group. Then the members voted $25 of the 5th district treasury to Mrs. McClendon.

Plans were made to interest every parish in the state to send at least one teacher to L. S. U. — for the three weeks of the workshop whose aim briefly is to extend, expand, and enrich a program of education for the public schools of Louisiana.

Miss Cann also spoke of the N. E. A. delegates. The 5th district representative chosen last November is Mrs. J. W. Musselwhite, Ouachita Parish High School. Miss Cann and Mrs. Musselwhite will attend the N. E. A. in July at Cincinnati.

Mr. Griffith, as a member of the I. T. A. legislative committee, gave a report of that committee's session in Baton Rouge, May 24. Mrs. Elnora McClendon, member of L. T. A. constitution committee, briefly reviewed some of the proposed changes.

Plans were made at the regular meeting of the Louisiana Teachers Association next November. Mr. Gilmore, council member of West Carroll contributed much to the discussion which followed.

After all routine reports, business, and regular programs were concluded, an open forum of questions and answers pertaining to matters of general interest was participated in by every teacher present. The fifth district teachers then extended most sincere and gracious appreciation to the First Baptist Church for the many courtesies extended the association and council during the past school year. Practically all present had attended the state meeting in Alexandria two weeks ago at which time districts seven and eight organized their respective district units.

H. CUSTER NAYLOR
LEAVING LEGGETT'S

H. Custer Naylor announces his resignation as vice president and regional director of the Leggett Drug Company, Inc., a Division of the Rexall Drug Company, of which Lane Drug Stores are a part.

The group of 58 Lane stores were sold September 20, 1946, to the Leggett Drug Company and Mr. Naylor remained in charge of the operations of the Lane group of stores and merged them with the 33 Leggett stores to form the Southeastern Region of the Lane-Leggett Rexall Drug Stores.

In June, 1932, Mr. Naylor headed up, as president and general manager, a company organized as Lane Drug Stores Incorporated and purchased the then bankrupt Lane Drug Stores, which numbered 33, located in Atlanta and Griffin, Georgia, Jacksonville, Florida and Knoxville, Tennessee. The original stores were small in size and the volume of business was also small.

However, during the 14 years that Mr. Naylor operated the Lane stores, they grew in number to 58, situated in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and South Carolina and the sales grew from $1,000,000 in 1932 to $13,000,000 in 1946. The profits grew apace and in 1946 amounted to $754,000 before allowance for income taxes.

Mr. Naylor was a pioneer in many ways. He states that the Lane store in the Henry Grady Hotel (Atlanta) was the first air conditioned store in Georgia and he installed Atlanta's first magic eye doors at the Alabama and Broad Street location, where he also installed the South's first sunken soda fountain. Mr. Naylor pioneered in making drug stores larger and larger and in creating distinctive departments in his operations.

During Mr. Naylor's regime he followed a policy of generous profit participation by distributing a substantial portion of the company's earnings among his co-workers.

TAXICAB DRIVER
OUTWITS GUNMEN

Saves Wallet But Loses Watch
To Holdup Pair After Chase, Fight

A quick-thinking young taxi driver saved his money-filled wallet by skilfully tossing it from his moving cab when two Negro gunmen sought to hold him up at Eleventh and Olive streets early yesterday morning. But he was not fleet enough to outrun them in a subsequent chase on foot and they got his gold pocket watch.

The Negroes crossed Grammont street from the Union Bus station to the Twin City Cab Co. office about midnight and asked Lonnie Medaries, 107 Peace street, the driver, to take them to Rayville. He quoted a price that they said they were unable to pay, but they engaged him to take them to a colored night club in the Booker T. Washington addition and then directed him to go to 19th and Breard.

As the cab neared Eleventh and Olive a pistol was thrust against Medaries' back and he was told to hand over his money. Instead he flipped his purse out of the window and sped on to the corner, where he obeyed a command to stop. Then he leaped from the cab and ran. He heard a gun hammer click twice as he sped away, he told police, but did not stop until he was overhauled by one of the Negroes. He was fighting with the holdup man when he heard a shot, probably fired by the other Negro, he said.

After getting the driver's watch and vainly searching him for money, the men released Medaries and went away, apparently not having seen him toss away his purse. He recovered his money and went back to his cab to find the keys missing. Police were notified when he telephoned the cab office for a substitute set of keys and reported the holdup to the night manager.

1,000 OBSERVE
MUSIC PROGRAMS

Week So Set Apart Is Widely Popular In Parish Schools

Considerable interest was shown in the elementary schools of Ouachita parish as organized choruses from the first through the eighth grades in the various schools were presented in a series of four programs celebrating National Music Week.

Over 500 pupils representing the following schools: Millsaps, Drew, Calhoun, Lott, Swartz, Ouachita, Lenoir, Ransom and Crosley, participated in the first of the series and were presented in the Cracley School auditorium on May 2.

On May 6, in the auditorium of the A. L. Smith School at Sterlington, a well-rounded program was rendered by various choruses and the A. L. Smith first grade rhythm band. The schools participating in this program were Swartz, Fairbanks and A. L. Smith.

In the third program choruses were presented from Eureka, Drew, Claiborne and Calhoun on May 7 in the high school auditorium at Calhoun. In this group, as well as in all others, it was interesting to note the number of boys taking part. It is true that in theory class work boys in the schools do even better work than girls and most of them are interested.

It was a beautiful day and everyone seemed in a joyful mood on entering the Okaloosa High School auditorium on the morning of May 9. Every child from the Mt. Vernon, Cypress, Watson and Lapine schools was afforded the privilege of being present at this, the fourth and last program of the series.

This program was the climax and quite impressive as groups from two or three schools combined to form one chorus, singing two and three-part songs without rehearsal in perfect rhythm and harmony.

All choruses were organized and trained as part of the regular classroom music program as carried on by the various teachers under the direction of Mrs. Myrtle Durrett, supervisor of vocal music, Ouachita elementary schools, who planned the parish-wide programs. With only a few exceptions the children sang a cappella. It was an inspiration to hear the light, airy and melodic tones of these voices as the many choruses sang carefully selected songs, but the highlight of each program was the assembly singing, which included some of Stephen Foster's greatly beloved compositions, "Wait For The Wagon," "Lil' Liza Jane," Brahms' "Lullaby," and many other songs loved by the children.

Gleeful singing, making music for enjoyment and training, that "next to Divinity comes music," is the plan set forth in the music training program by the teachers and Mrs. Durrett in elementary music department of the Ouachita parish schools.

ST. MATTHEW'S FINISHES YEAR

Commencement Held In Church On Friday Night

The Most Rev. Charles P. Greco, D. D. bishop of the Alexandria diocese, addressing the graduating class of the St. Matthew's High School, at the commencement exercises Friday night, declared he was as happy as the graduates and the parents for he said the hope of the Christian world depends on the youth of the nation who will be the ones to carry on in years to come. The world is in a turmoil, and the church is in a turmoil in this atomic age, he said, and it needs strong men and women to meet the situation. These he said must be found among such people as comprised the graduating class of St. Matthew's.

Catholic schools he said do not only fit for the making of a living, they fit students for the living of a Christian life. "What does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own soul?" he declared.

The bishop stated that it is a Catholic church is under attack. That it is such a growing force that it is feared and that some congressmen would change the constitution of the United States so as to prevent the government giving free lunches and permitting Catholic students to ride in public buses to and from school. He urged that these limitations be fought and that congressmen be made to know that Catholics have a right to enjoy the same privileges as other religious denominations. In closing he praised the parents who had, possibly through deprivations, succeeded in getting an education for their boys and girls and then he paid tribute to the indispensable women of the Catholic schools, the Sisters who give all that they possess toward the education of the coming generation.

Following the processional, Charles Biggar, with fine voice, sang the Panis Angelicus of Cesar Franck, after which Rev. H. W. Hubley delivered an address to the class using as his theme Matthew 28:19.

Msgr. John C. Marsh read the academic honors and distinctions and diplomas were awarded by the bishop. The class of 1947, largest in years with 25 members, made a pleasing appearance as they marched into the church. The young women were attired in white gowns and caps and carried gorgeous crimson gladioli in their arms. The boys were attired in caps and gowns of maroon color.

Members of the class were Ellen Browne, valedictorian; Janet Voorhies, salutatorian; Cecelia Danna, historian; Helen Wilds, prophet; Christine Jacola, writer of class will; Althea Victoria Burkett, Joyce Danna, Mamie Danna, Felix Danna, Terry Lynn de Jaive, Billy Marie Ford, Despena Marie Kokinos, Joan LaMonica, Lorona Ann Miller, Frances Pitarro.

PLAY ALL SET FOR 'DRUNKARD'

Will Be Given At Rainbow Inn
Monday And Tuesday

Tickets for "The Drunkard," are fast approaching a sell out at Goldsmiths. "The Drunkard," the old-time mellerdrummer presented by Kay Crandall, will play at the Rainbow Inn next Monday and Tuesday, June 2 and 3, at 8:30. It will be presented in the exaggerated burlesque style which has made this one-time temperance play a classic of entertainment wherever it has been given, and has kept it running for years in Los Angeles. The audience will sit at tables and may eat and drink as the show goes on, and is urged to heckle the actors as much as they please.

Dallas Wales, just home from Louisiana Tech, where he is a speech major, has stepped into the role of the hero, Edward Middleton, after Joe Saragusa was forced to leave town unexpectedly. Mr. Wales has played prominent parts in "Hay Fever," and "Angel St." with the Tech players this past year, and played on the KNOE Radio Workshop last summer, while working as an announcer at KNOE.

Bid Causey, who was recently honored with the award as the best actor of 1946-47, will play the villainous Lawyer Cribbs. Mr. Causey played leads in two plays this season, and three small parts in two others, while stage managing the fifth play of the season.

Vetty Bernhardt will play the ever-so-pure heroine, Mar. Wilson. A graduate of Neville, she played in the senior play there, before attending Louisiana Tech.

Tommye Ann Bivens, who is 11-years-old and a student at Crosley where she has taken part in plays, will play the heroine's daughter, Julia. Evelyn Kennedy Reinsmith, who first became associated with local theatricals when she prompted "You Can't Take It With You," is playing the widowed mother, Mrs. Wilson.

Len Reinsmith, seen first as a G-man in "You Can't Take It With You," is playing William Dowton, the hero's half-witted Mortimer Sneedish half-brother. Judy Caraway, who has appeared in numerous plays, including "Claudia" this season, is Miss Spindle, the aging old maid who still has hopes. Bert Bernheim plays the most sanctimonious of reformers, Mr. Rencelaw, after small parts in "You Can't Take It With You" and other plays. Herbert Nobes comes to the play as the third generation of the local Barrymore clan—the father of Verta Troy, and Dick Troy, Jr.'s grandfather—to play the Country Landlord; James Gilmer is Father Stevens, after active work earlier in the year on lightning. Henry Haas, Jr., plays his second barkeeper role of the year. The loafers in local bars are Thomas G. Serwich and Joe Smith. Max Criden is the Bank Messenger and Harold Morrison a Boy.

THE NATION TODAY

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(P)—Now President Truman must make up his mind about two of the most difficult problems of his presidency so far.

Should he try to kill the new tax-cut and labor bills with a veto or let one or both become law?

He's been opposed to both. But the Republicans in Congress, with the help of some Democrats, have rammed them through.

The decisions he makes will affect the whole country: Everyone who pays taxes, labor unions, employers, and the general public.

So his decisions seem bound to have an effect on the 1948 presidential elections when Mr. Truman's Democrats line up against the Republicans.

Congress, after months of work, is just finishing up both bills. Mr. Truman probably will receive them within the next few days.

He must make up his mind within 10 days after they reach him. That's law. So there should be an answer somewhere around June 15.

This is what he can do with the bills:

1. Veto them. This will kill them unless Congress can muster up a two-thirds vote to re-pass them into law over the veto. That's not easy.

2. Let them become law without his signature. They automatically become law if he fails to sign or veto them within 10 days after they reach him.

3. Sign them into law.

Both House and Senate approved the labor bill by more than a two-thirds vote.

Not so with the tax-cut bill. That passed by a simple majority vote only. The Republicans were unable to whip up a two-thirds vote for that in either house.

So if Mr. Truman vetoes the labor bill, Congress once more may be able to produce a two-thirds vote on it and pass it into law over the veto.

Mr. Truman can give plenty of reasons for vetoing the tax bill. For example:

Congress won't know until late in June how much money is needed, in taxes, to run the government another year and pay off some of its debts.

Yet the tax bill would cut $4,000,000,000 off government income before it knows how much money it needs to run. Mr. Truman could say this is poor business.

But suppose he kills the tax cut bill with a veto. What will be the effect on millions of Americans who are expecting a cut?

Because of disappointment in this, a lot of voters may blame Mr. Truman and his Democrats and take it out on them in the 1948 elections.

Labor unions already are bitter against the Republicans for cooking up the labor bill which puts more restrictions on unions than any measure in history.

So even if Mr. Truman signs it into law he isn't apt to lose the support of unions which have supported the Democrats for years.

But he can win their gratitude by vetoing it, even though Congress then passes it into law over the veto.

Suppose he vetoes it and Congress can't pass it into law and big labor troubles break out between now and the 1948 elections.

Will the non-union people, particularly those who wanted curbs on union, blame him and take it out on the Democrats in 1948?

LONG DECLARES FOR HOME RULE

Former Governor Backs Program Of Louisiana Municipal Group

Earl K. Long, who attended the Louisiana Peace Officers' convention here during the week-end, yesterday issued the following statement in regard to his support of the Louisiana Municipal association's five-point program to give cities more power and operating funds.

Mr. Long, interviewed at his room in the Virginia hotel, said:

"As a candidate for Governor, I wish to make it clear that, when elected, I will not only insist upon more home rule and local self government by the cities, towns and villages and by the police juries and school boards, but I will give these local governmental agencies financial assistance from State collected funds with which to better serve the people. I believe in a grass-roots democracy. Our form of government begins with the teaching and practice of democracy in the home. We should have more government by local authorities and less in the state capitol and in Washington. People should be able to see democracy at work in every city, town and rural community. This can only be accomplished by home rule put into practice rather than being made the subject of political speeches.

"The Louisiana Municipal Association, through its legislative committee, has recently given publicity to a five point program through which they are asking the legislature for more financial help. In principle, I am in accord with all of the points in this program. It will be necessary, however, for me to make a close study of the extent of the financial aid which the local political subdivisions need before I make a statement relative to the details of this program. I do know that most of the towns and cities are trying to operate on budgets which make efficient government and governmental services extremely difficult.

"I am in full sympathy with Ford's plan," Long said, "and will put forth every effort to see that the association's program is carried out."

Long said that he realized that Commissioner Ford had made an extensive study of municipal problems and was exceedingly well informed. "I will be glad to work with him and his associates," the candidate declared.

The former Louisiana governor said that he had been over the state "visiting with friends and supporters and am finding that my candidacy is being very favorably received in all sections of the state.

"I'm meeting people every day who have never previously supported me who are pledging me their support in this campaign. These people say that they have seen very little to show for the huge collection of taxes and they appreciate the fact that I was one of the first to come out and oppose the present administration's natural gas policy."

Ford has termed the association's program an "opening run" in a move for revision of the balance of authority and revenue between the state and its cities. He claimed that the state constitution operates for the benefit of rural dwellers over city dwellers.

GOOD CITIZEN

Marvin Cook, Ouachita Parish High School senior, was chosen by the class of 1947 as "Good Citizen." Carolyn Bagwell was the young woman winner in the election and she is pictured with class officers.

I am definitely in favor of giving financial aid to governmental subdivisions in order that more governmental services may be rendered to the people in the interest of real and practical home rule.

He thereby became the first 1948 gubernatorial candidate to take up the idea outlined Thursday at Baton Rouge by the association's executive committee, headed by finance Commissioner John McW. Ford of Shreveport.

"I am in full sympathy with Ford's plan," Long said, "and will put forth every effort to see that the association's program is carried out."

Long said that he realized that Commissioner Ford had made an extensive study of municipal problems and was exceedingly well informed. "I will be glad to work with him and his associates," the candidate declared.

PUBLIC FORUM

SELMAN FIELD BUSES
Monroe, La.
May 28, 1947.

City Council,
City of Monroe, La.

We the veterans, and wives of veterans, who are now living in the temporary housing project, at Selman Field, are badly in need of city bus service for ourselves and families.

The city, at the present time, furnishes this project with a bus at the hours of 6:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. However, there have been times when even these buses failed to make the scheduled runs.

Buses running at these hours were really only a convenience to people in the project who go and come from work. The wives of these veterans desiring to shop in town or who find it necessary to go to town, have to catch either of these two morning buses and spend the entire day in town before they can get transportation back to the project.

We all realize that this project is outside of the city limits, but we also realize that the city during the war did run buses out here and, too, when our boys were drafted or volunteered for service to their country, it surely wasn't a question as to where they resided.

Signed:
Veterans of Selman Field
Housing Project.

The letter to the council was accompanied by the following petition bearing 147 signatures.
City of Monroe,
City Council,
Monroe, La.

We, the undersigned, do hereby petition the City of Monroe, to extend bus service to Selman Field, at least once an hour, between the hours of 5:30 a. m. and 11:00 p. m.

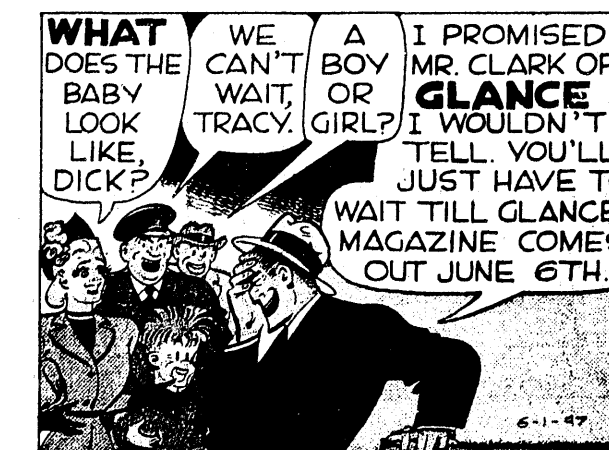

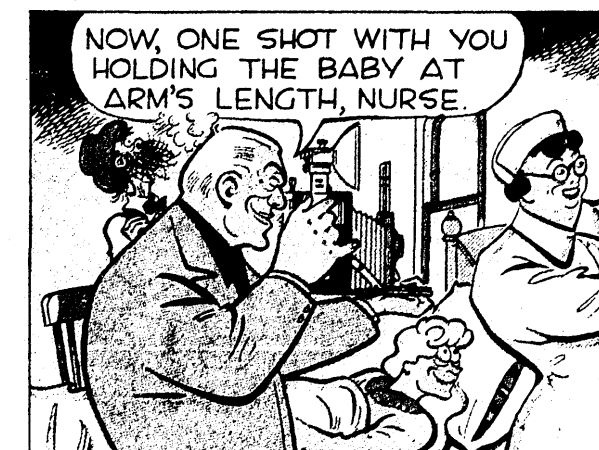

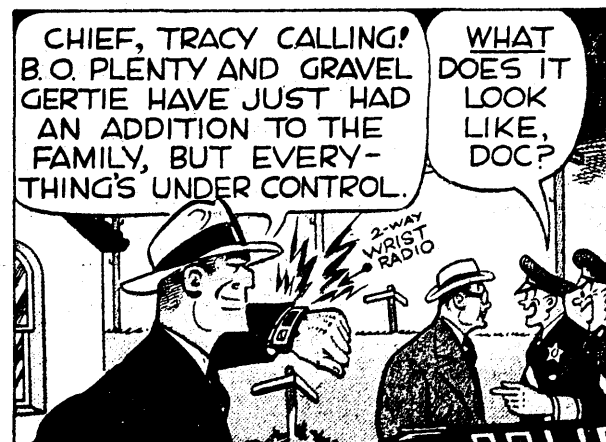

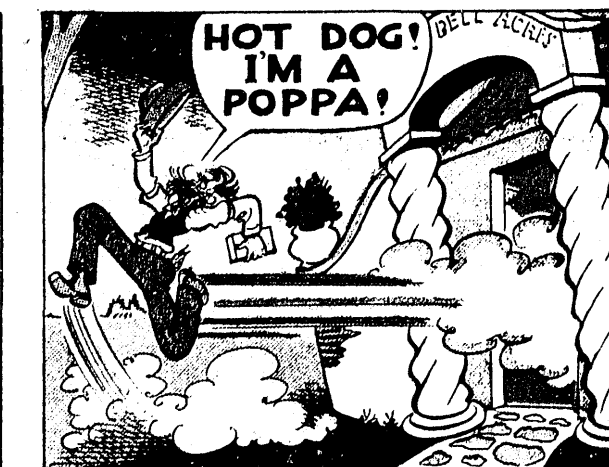

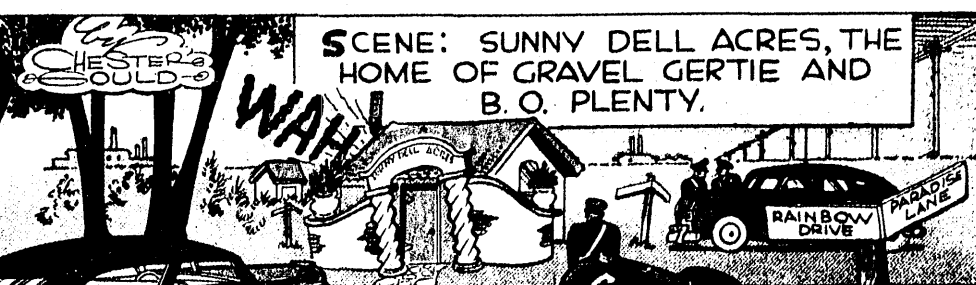

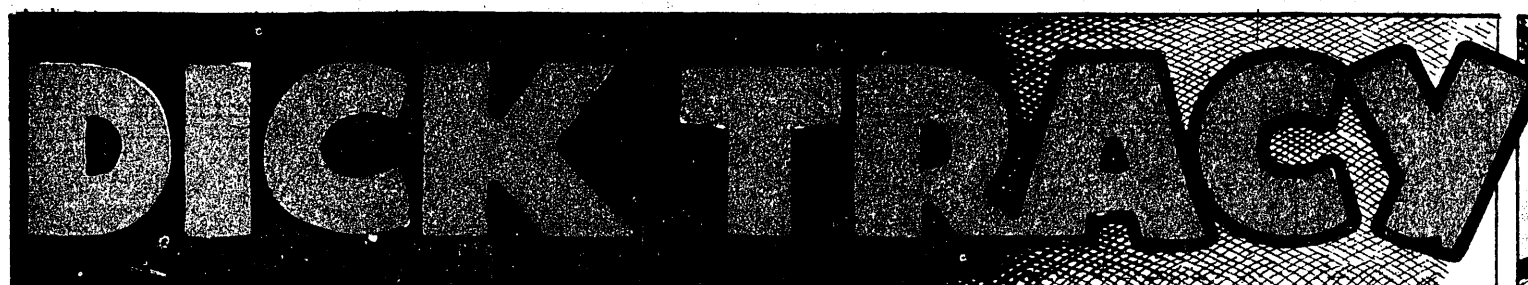

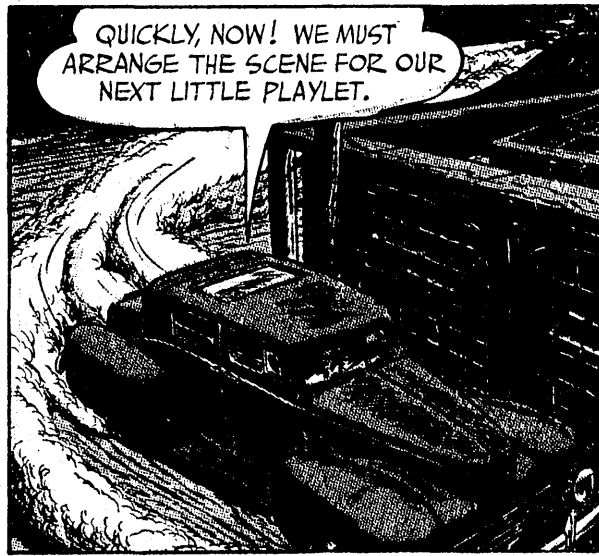

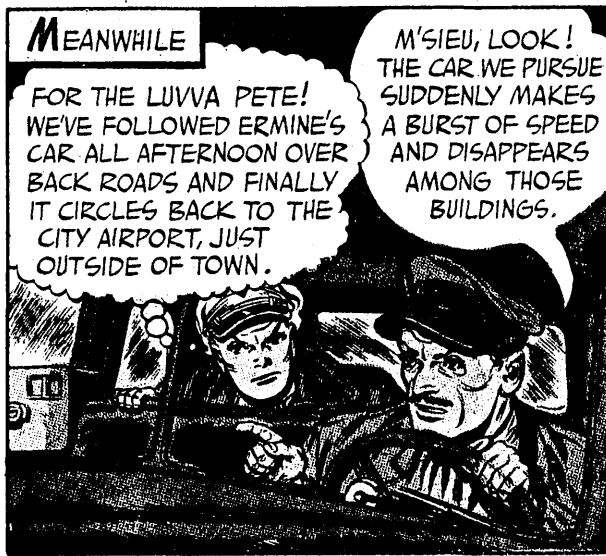

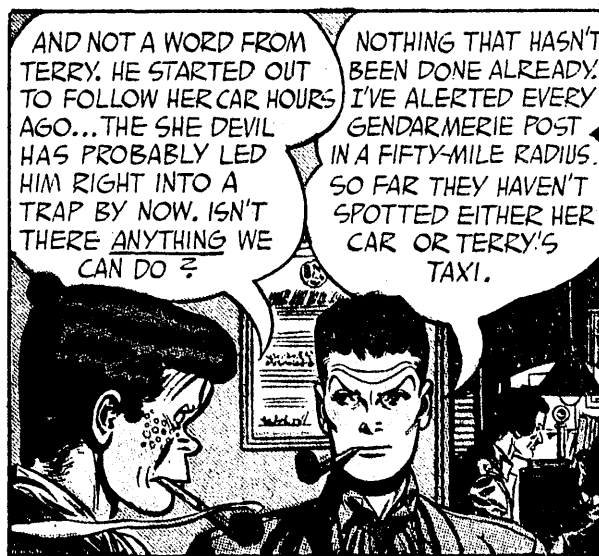

We further petition that these buses circle the ramp and return via the housing project.

HULLO, PARKER... THIS IS NAT ROGERS AT MIKE JACOBS' OFFICE... KNOBBY JUST CALLED ON THE LONG DISTANCE AND SAID JOE WILL FIGHT HUMPHREY. HE'S BURNING UP.

GREAT! THE WHOLE COUNTRY'S BEEN WAITING. WE'LL HEADLINE IT... FRONT PAGE.

NO, I'M SORRY... NO ONE CAN SEE MR. PENNYWORTH EXCEPT SPORTS WRITERS!

I GOTTA GET SOME BLACK-SMITH WORK DONE... AN' THERE ISN'T ONE I CAN FIND AROUND NEW YORK.

PLEASE... I HEARD HIM... TELL 'EM I'LL FIX WHATEVER IT IS... I'D LIKE IT...

BUT, HUMPHREY... WE HAVE TO GET STARTED FOR TRAINING CAMP... AND WE HAVE TO BE AT MIKE JACOBS' OFFICE FOR THE SIGNING...

I TOLD 'EM WE'D SIGN BY OURSELVES... WE DON'T WANTA EVEN SEE 'N' HIPPO!

I WONDER WHY HE BROKE HIS WORD. I WOULD HAVE TRUSTED HUMPHREY TO THE LIMIT. TCH TCH!

SEVERAL DAYS LATER, HUMPHREY IS TRAINING ON LONG ISLAND.

THIS SEEMS VURRY RIDICULOUS...

HE'LL NEVER LEARN T'PUNCH A BAG.

LONG AS HE WON'T RUN... THIS MAY SUBSTITUTE. IF HE'D ONLY STOP EATING THO', HE'LL NEVER LOSE WEIGHT.

MY GOODNESS (PUFF) WHAT PRETTY SCEN'RY (PUFF)

OKAY, HUMPHREY... YOU MUST OF LOST TEN POUNDS... YOU BEEN IN FOUR HOURS.

WHEW... KINDA WARMISH... I'LL HAVE SOME CHOC'LAT SODA.

GOOD GOSH! HE'S GAINED!!

LET'S PUT HIM IN WITH SPARRING PARTNERS TOMORROW.

NEXT DAY

WHAP!

HUMPHREY... PLEASE JUST BOX... YOU'VE GOT TO LEARN TO BOX.

I FORGOT.

AT JOE'S TRAINING QUARTERS...

LISTEN T' THIS, HUMPHREY HAS KNOCKED ALL HIS SPARRING PARTNERS AND NO OTHERS WILL TAKE THE JOB!!

HE'S STRONG, ISN'T HE?

TARZAN
by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

A FEW DAYS BEFORE TARZAN ARRIVED IN THE RIVER TOWN OF LIALIJI, THE NATIVES HAD CAPTURED A MAGNIFICENT LION IN A JUNGLE PIT-TRAP.

WITHIN HIS BRAIN, THE SCENT OF TARZAN BROUGHT VAGUE MEMORIES OF A FRIEND. AROUSED, THE MIGHTY ANIMAL BROKE THE BARS....

... AND TROTTED OFF TO FIND HIS MASTER, JAD-BAL-JA, THE GOLDEN LION! TARZAN EXCLAIMED. HE THREW HIS ARMS AROUND THE SHAGGY NECK!

THE GIRL'S FRIGHT CHANGED TO ANNOYANCE. "TARZAN, ARE YOU GOING TO GO GOOEY OVER A CIRCUS LION AND LET THE LAW GET YOU AGAIN? LISTEN--THEY'RE COMING!"

"I SAY! WHAT'S THIS?" THE MAGISTRATE PUFFED AS HE ENTERED, FOLLOWED BY CATLIN AND MUNGO. TARZAN MUTTERED ONE WORD TO THE LION. "KILL!"

AT THE COMMAND, JAD-BAL-JA CHARGED. TO HIM, ALL ENEMIES OF THE APE-MAN WERE HIS ENEMIES. THE MAGISTRATE WAS FIRST IN HIS PATH.

HE CRUMPLED, BUT THE TWO EVIL MEN WHO CONSPIRED TO STEAL THE DIAMOND MINE RAN.

AND SO, THE JUNGLE-LORD, THE AMERICAN GIRL AND A TAWNY LION WALKED UNMOLESTED TOWARD THE FOREST.
